SST Controversy Stalling Congress Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bickering 91st Congress scheduled another attempt today to resolve the controversy that may yet keep it in session as long as the law allows: the future of the supersonic transport plane.

While the House and Senate settled one major problem Tuesday night by passing a $66.6-billion defense appropriations bill, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said "there's still a long tunnel ahead."

Mansfield said it appears Congress will have to keep working into the weekend, and possibly until noon Sunday—the final moment the 91st can do business.

After that, the Constitution says the Capitol belongs to the 92nd Congress, which actually doesn't plan to meet until Jan. 21.

The Senate Tuesday tabled, thus killing a compromise

$7-billion transportation appropriations bill that includes $210 million to subsidize the airplane. The Senate earlier had voted to spend nothing at all.

That action prepared the way for a new conference with the House, which first voted $290 million for the SST and then accepted the conference recommendation of $210 million.

The Senate expanded to nine men its negotiating delegation, adding Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chief SST foe and Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., who favors the plane.

But it appeared unlikely the new conference would even begin work before tonight. The House recessed until evening while many members attended the funeral of Rep. L. Mendel Rivers in Charleston, S.C.

Anyway, Senate members of the initial conference said they doubt the new round of talks will do much good.

Proxmire said if the dispute isn't settled, he will filibuster against the SST to the end of the session.

In other work it did finish Tuesday, the Senate passed, 81 to 0, a massive increase in Social Security benefits—but that bill appeared to be floundering in between the two houses.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said it will be impossible to work out a compromise for passage this Congress.

The Social Security Bill would give 26 million Americans a $6.5-billion increase in benefits, and provide another $1 billion in welfare assistance for the aged, the blind and the disabled.

The House passed, 234 to 18, the massive defense money bill, and the Senate sent it on to the White House, 70 to 2.

Votes against it were cast by Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., both defeated for re-election.

That bill had been stalled in controversy over restrictions on the use of U.S. combat forces in Southeast Asia outside South Vietnam.

The final version bars use of American ground forces in Laos and Thailand, but permits U.S. financial support for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia and Laos. An earlier bill forbids introduction of U.S. ground troops or advisers into Cambodia.

The Senate passed Tuesday night a bill to continue automobile and telephone excise taxes for the next two years, and to speed collection of estate taxes.

It would provide an additional $730 million in federal revenues this year, and $3.3 billion in fiscal 1972.

GOP Is Critical

Koenig Hearing Attacked

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON Mayor Francis R. Koenig's public hearing Tuesday night on the 1971 budget has been labeled "an exercise in futility" in the first significant public attack on the Koenig Administration by what has been termed "his loyal opposition."

City Republican Chairman Melvin Mones, who did not attend last night's meeting at city hall, charged today that Koenig had not given the public enough time to study his budget. The budget was issued to the public by the mayor late Monday morning. "Certainly you cannot take an intelligent look at a 27-page document with hundreds of figures in a 24-hour period," Mones asserted.

Mones said that he has asked the Common Council's Republican leader, John L. Machione, Second Ward alderman, to propose a law making it mandatory that the budget be available for public perusal 10 days prior to the public hearing. "We do it on the county level," Mones, a county legislator from the city of Kingston, said. "There's no reason why it can't be done in the city. People need time to study the budget."

Koenig's budget hearing lasted only 35 minutes last night before a gathering of about 50 persons, most of them city employees or city officials. The city's department heads had orders from the mayor to attend last night's public hearing in the event that questions were asked of them.

There were only two speakers, Harry M. Thayer of Crown Street, president of Radio Station WGHQ, who questioned a number of budget items for almost half an hour, and William Austin of Clifton Avenue who asked the mayor what guarantees he had on increased state aid.

Koenig told Austin that the state comptroller had supplied the city treasurer with estimates on state aid (the city is figuring a $475,000 increase) but that there were no guarantees that additional state funding would reach that level.

Koenig opened the meeting at 7:30 p.m. by reading the notice of public hearing for the budget published in The Daily Freeman last week. He then briefly explained that for the first time the city would offer a line item breakdown for salaries. He added that he was looking into the possibility of itemizing another major category, "other expenses," for the 1972 budget.

Speaking of the "other expenses" account, Koenig pointed out that it had increased from $530,000 in 1970 to slightly more than $675,000 for next year, according to his projected figures. He added that four items accounted for a total of $118,000 of that amount: $10,000 for the police department, $10,000 for snow and ice removal for the hiring of outside contractors; $4,000 for removal of dead trees and an increase in the Kingston City Laboratory's "other expenses" account of $94,000.

Thayer labeled Koenig's budget "a myth" and a "slight of hand effort," noting that while expenses had increased by almost $700,000 the tax rate had dropped by $2.25. (Additional state aid makes up most of the mayor's revenue gap.)

Thayer, while arguing for budget cuts ("there must be a plateau") took the opposite tact in regards to the budget for the Kingston City Library. Quoting a letter from the board of trustees of the library to the mayor, Thayer read that library expenses were $67,000 for 1970 but revenues were only $60,000 (including the $39,000 appropriated by the city).

Thayer, reading from the letter, said that the city had spent only $1.50 per capita for its library whereas the recommended average by national library officials was ... (Thayer could not read the figure.) "It's $4.00," Koenig said.

The letter also stated that the library would have to begin to curtail services in January if it did not get the requested funds. "They're facing the same problems our other city departments are facing," Koenig said.

Most of the aldermen were present at last night's public hearing with the exception of Michael S. Perry (D-Seventh Ward) and Clifford G. Sinsbaugh (D-Tenth Ward). The budget has been delivered to all the aldermen and action by Finance, Ways and Means Committee is expected in mid-January.

The Council convenes on Jan. 1 at noon to hear the mayor's message and to organize itself for the coming year. The first regular meeting of the Council is set for Jan. 5, at 7:30 p.m.

Won't Yield on Jerusalem

Israel Doubts Success of Talks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli Premier Golda Meir says her government will not make peace with the Arabs unless it gets "defensible" frontiers and retains control of united Jerusalem.

But she also said Tuesday that Israel, bolstered by new support from the United States, is re-entering the peace negotiations at the United Nations "ready not only to present our position but also to listen."

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, speaking in Cairo, labeled Israel's decision to return to the peace talks a "maneuver" and ordered his country to get ready for deep Israeli raids after the Middle East cease-fire expires Feb. 5.

He gave virtual assurance that Egypt will not agree to extension of the cease-fire without a timetable for Israeli withdrawal from territories occupied in the June 1967 war.

Sadat spoke at a closed meeting of the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's only political party. Cairo newspapers reported the speech.

Mrs. Meir spoke before the Knesset, Israel's parliament, after it voted 77-27 and with 9 abstentions to rejoin the negotiations with U.N. mediator Gunnar Jarring as the go-between. Israel withdrew from the talks Sept. 6, before they really got started, charging that Egypt had violated the cease-fire by moving anti-aircraft missiles closer to the Suez Canal.

Mrs. Meir urged Egypt to agree to an extension of the cease-fire and warned Cairo against any renewal of the fighting. She added that recent contacts with Washington have shown increased U.S. support for Israel's refusal to withdraw from the occupied territories until binding peace agreements are reached.

She reiterated Israel's rejection of U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers' call for Israel to agree to only minor changes in the borders it had before the 1967 war. Israel's decision to return to the peace negotiations does not include any commitment to agree to the Rogers proposals or any other plan she said.

Sadat said Egypt's armed forces are "now stronger than ever before," and "we have reached the stage where we can say, 'No, we shall not extend the cease-fire.'"

"Every one of us should be on the battlefield within two weeks because the enemy—knowing he cannot repeat June 5, 1967, against our army—will concentrate on the internal front," Sadat said.

Sadat said Egypt accepted the first extension of the cease-fire "because we felt the world wanted us to ... but this time it is clear America and Israel are maneuvering."

"America will find some logic in demanding another extension," he said, "on the basis of Israel's return to the Jarring talks, but we know this will be a dilatory tactic and they do not intend to implement the November U.N. resolution."

He was referring to the U.N. Security Council resolution of November 1967, which called for a peace settlement including Israeli withdrawal from the occupied territories and Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist as a state within secure boundaries.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told a news conference today that "such talk of stopping the cease-fire is irresponsible—these speeches are no elements which generate negotiating atmosphere."

Meanwhile, sources in the Israeli town of Tiberias reported that Lebanese soldiers and Arab guerrillas fought for several hours Tuesday night around the Lebanese village of Bennat Jbail, about two miles from the frontier.

The sources said shelling and light arms fire could be heard clearly and that flares occasionally lit the battle scene. Bennat Jbail is a few miles from Yaffa, where Israeli forces attacked Sunday night in a retaliatory raid against guerrilla strongholds.

CHICAGO (UPI) — American use of defoliant sprays has wiped out one-fifth of Vietnam's forests since 1961 and "virtually nothing remains alive" in some areas, a meeting of scientists has been told.

Tuesday's session of the 137th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science was the third day in a row with protests from young radicals at the convention.

A panel on "crime, violence and social control" had a living demonstration of its topic when the wife of a University of California biologist, piqued by interruptions from a graduate student, jabbed him in the arm with her knitting needle.

Related Southeast Asia stories on page 18

Arthur R. Westing, a botanist at Windham College, Putney, Vt., told delegates that "virtually nothing remains alive" in the defoliated areas of the mangrove forests along the coast of Vietnam's Mekong Delta.

A study of one defoliated province indicated that its still birth rate was higher than the national average for 1968 and 1969. The study, conducted by a team sent to Vietnam by the association to study the effects of defoliant sprays, lacked complete medical statistics on populations most directly affected, it was added.

Findings of the team also cast some doubts on Army allegations that only relatively uninhabited areas were sprayed with defoliants. Professor Matthew S. Meselson of Harvard University, a biologist appointed to head the team, said he was convinced of the sincerity of a Chemical Corps officer who flew team members over a defoliated area he said was relatively uninhabited.

"It looks relatively uninhabited," Meselson said. "But an Army intelligence map taken the previous year showed 940 dwellings, enough to house about 5,000 people and a blow-up of aerial photos we took showed even more houses had been built by the time the crop destruction missions took place."

Birth deformity rates in defoliated areas, said one team, were particularly hard to determine. Dr. J. D. Constable, professor of surgery at Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, said hospitals in the heavily defoliated province of Tay Ninh kept no records of deformities of birth, even though they carefully recorded stillbirths.

The team, members of the Herbicide Assessment Commission authorized for the study by an $80,000 grant, said about 35 per cent of South Vietnam's jungles have been destroyed in an attempt to eliminate enemy sanctuaries among the foliage.

A law professor attending the conference reported that the military's use of herbicides violates the 1925 Geneva Convention against chemical warfare. However, the United States never has ratified the agreement, he said.

During the crime and violence symposium, needle-wielding Mrs. Garrett Hardin—who said she was knitting a sock for her husband—repeatedly jabbed Frank Rosenthal—who was shouting "What about Cuba?" and "What about Vietnam?" until he grabbed her arm to make her stop.

Mrs. Hardin then jabbed him again and drew blood.

Soviet Begins Closed Hearings On the Hijacker Appeals

MOSCOW (AP) — About a dozen Jews stood in the snow outside the Russian Federation Supreme Court today as a closed hearing began on appeals of the nine Jews and two Gentiles convicted of plotting to hijack a Soviet airliner to escape from the Soviet Union.

One woman was taken away screaming by two plainclothesmen after she told foreign news men: "They won't let us into the courtroom or out of the country."

Two of the Jewish defendants were sentenced to death and the other defendants given labor camp terms of from 4 to 15 years. All were convicted of treason last Thursday at Leningrad.

During the Leningrad trial, the defendants admitted they conspired to commandeer the small Aeroflot plane so the Jews could emigrate to Israel. But they denied their actions constituted treason.

Cabinet of Spain appears divided on the Basque death sentence issue. Story Page 18.

No relatives of the defendants or sympathizers were allowed inside the courthouse. One man who got to the door of the second-floor courtroom before he was expelled said about 10 uniformed militiamen were guarding the corridors outside the door.

The defendants themselves were believed to be still in Leningrad.

The woman arrested outside the Supreme Court, Esfir Mostkova of Novosibirsk, told correspondents she has been trying unsuccessfully to go to Israel since 1948. She said she has cancer and wants to see her son in Israel before she dies.

"We are not optimistic about the fate of the defendants," she said, "or that the foreign reaction will make the authorities give in. All we can do to influence them is make noise."

Like the Leningrad trial, the appeal hearing was also barred to foreign newsmen. A guard said no seats were available.

Several Western governments have appealed for clemency for Mark Dymshits and Edward Kuznetsov, the two sentenced to death for masterminding the hijack plan. Criticism of the severity of the sentences also has come from the Communist parties of several Western nations and from dissidents inside the Soviet Union.

Andrei D. Sakharov, the physicist who developed the Soviet Union's hydrogen bomb, circulated a letter among foreign correspondents Tuesday calling for commutation of the death sentences, reduction of the other sentences, and leniency for the black Communist Angela Davis, who is facing murder, kidnap and conspiracy charges in California. The letter was addressed to President Nikolai V. Podgorny of the Soviet Union and President Nixon.

Sakharov is known as a civil libertarian in Russia. In Washington, the U.S. Senate passed a resolution Tuesday night protesting the condemnation of Dymshits and Kuznetsov after about 1,000 persons walked by candlelight past the White House in support of the Leningrad defendants. Rep. Bertram L. Podell, D-N.Y., said he would lead a delegation of U.S. and foreign legislators to Moscow to protest the treatment of Soviet Jews.

Traficanti Named First Aide By District Attorney-Elect

KINGSTON — Francis J. Vogt, District attorney-elect of Ulster County, has announced the appointment of Joseph J. Traficanti Jr. as his first assistant, effective Jan. 1.

The appointment is the first of several expected to be made within the district attorney's office due to the fact that the incumbent DA, Joseph P. Torracca did not seek reelection and his first assistant district attorney Vogt has been elected to succeed him.

Vogt, as district attorney-elect is also expected to name someone to succeed Traficanti and later two more assistant district attorneys to fill two additional vacancies which are anticipated during the first few months of the year.

Traficanti has been with the district attorney's office as an assistant since November 1968. During this time he presented numerous cases before the County Court, Grand Jury, Justice and City Courts. He was assigned to Justice Courts in the Towns of Wawarsing, Rochester, Denning, Rosendale, Marletown and Shawangunk as well as the Villages of Rosendale and Ellenville.

He is a member of the New York State Bar Association, the United States Court of Appeals, the Ulster County Bar Association and the New York

JOSEPH TRAFICANTI JR.

State District Attorney's Association. Traficanti received his bachelor of arts degree from Siena College, Loudonville, and his Juris Doctor Degree from New York Law School.

While a student, he served as an assistant to the chairman of the New York State Assembly Ways and Means Committee and later as a research assistant to the Joint Legislative Committee on Industry and Labor. He began his criminal law work while a law aide in the office of probation, New York City Criminal Courts.

Traficanti now maintains his offices in Accord and serves as attorney for the Town of Rochester. He was formerly associated with the firm of Richter and Werbalowsky in Kingston. He resides in High Falls with his wife, the former Gretchen VanRensselaer Sickles of Troy, and their two children Marie and Paul.

Successful Career Conference

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON

Prospects of a repeat performance in 1971 for the Career Opportunities Day conference appear virtually assured, as Chamber of Commerce officials describe Tuesday's fourth annual meeting between job-hunters and county employees as "the most successful program we've ever held."

Len Cane, Executive Director of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, said today, "There is absolutely no reason why we should not hold another conference next year."

With job opportunities for college graduates at its lowest point in years, many employers, both in Ulster and throughout the state, have been reluctant to commit themselves to programs styled along Career Opportunities Day lines. While similar programs, however, were scuttled this year in both New York City and Albany, response to the Kingston program reached a new high Tuesday.

Approximately 175 job seekers, including college seniors, a handful of veterans and servicemen and some high school graduates and drop-outs, attended yesterday's program at the Holiday Inn of Kingston, topped by at least 20, the 1970 total.

In addition, ten employers from Kingston and Ulster County displayed their wares to the public, a total that matched last year's representation.

Most of the visitors, according to Cane, "seemed to think that the conference was a pretty good idea, and they were surprised that there were so many businesses represented."

It was a very successful, and a busy day," commented Cane, "and there was a good rapport between both parties."

Employers and businessmen, as well, were generally enthusiastic about the conference, And, while the conference may not have solved the employment dilemmas of area collegians, far the best conference we've held," to, "It's certainly better than last year."

While there were few, if any, concrete job offers or commitments that resulted from the conference, Chamber of Commerce spokesmen feel that it, at least, enabled both employers and potential employees to get together in a large group at the same time. And, while the conference may not have solved the employment dilemmas of area collegians, far the best conference we've held," to, "It's certainly better than last year."

The Most Exciting Headache News In Years!

Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public

Non-Narcotic Tablet (that needs no prescription)
Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription Of Doctors.

If you're one of the many who get tense, nervous headaches, these latest tests by doctors should be of the greatest importance.

In recent medical tests doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete headache relief as the expensive, leading prescription of doctors.

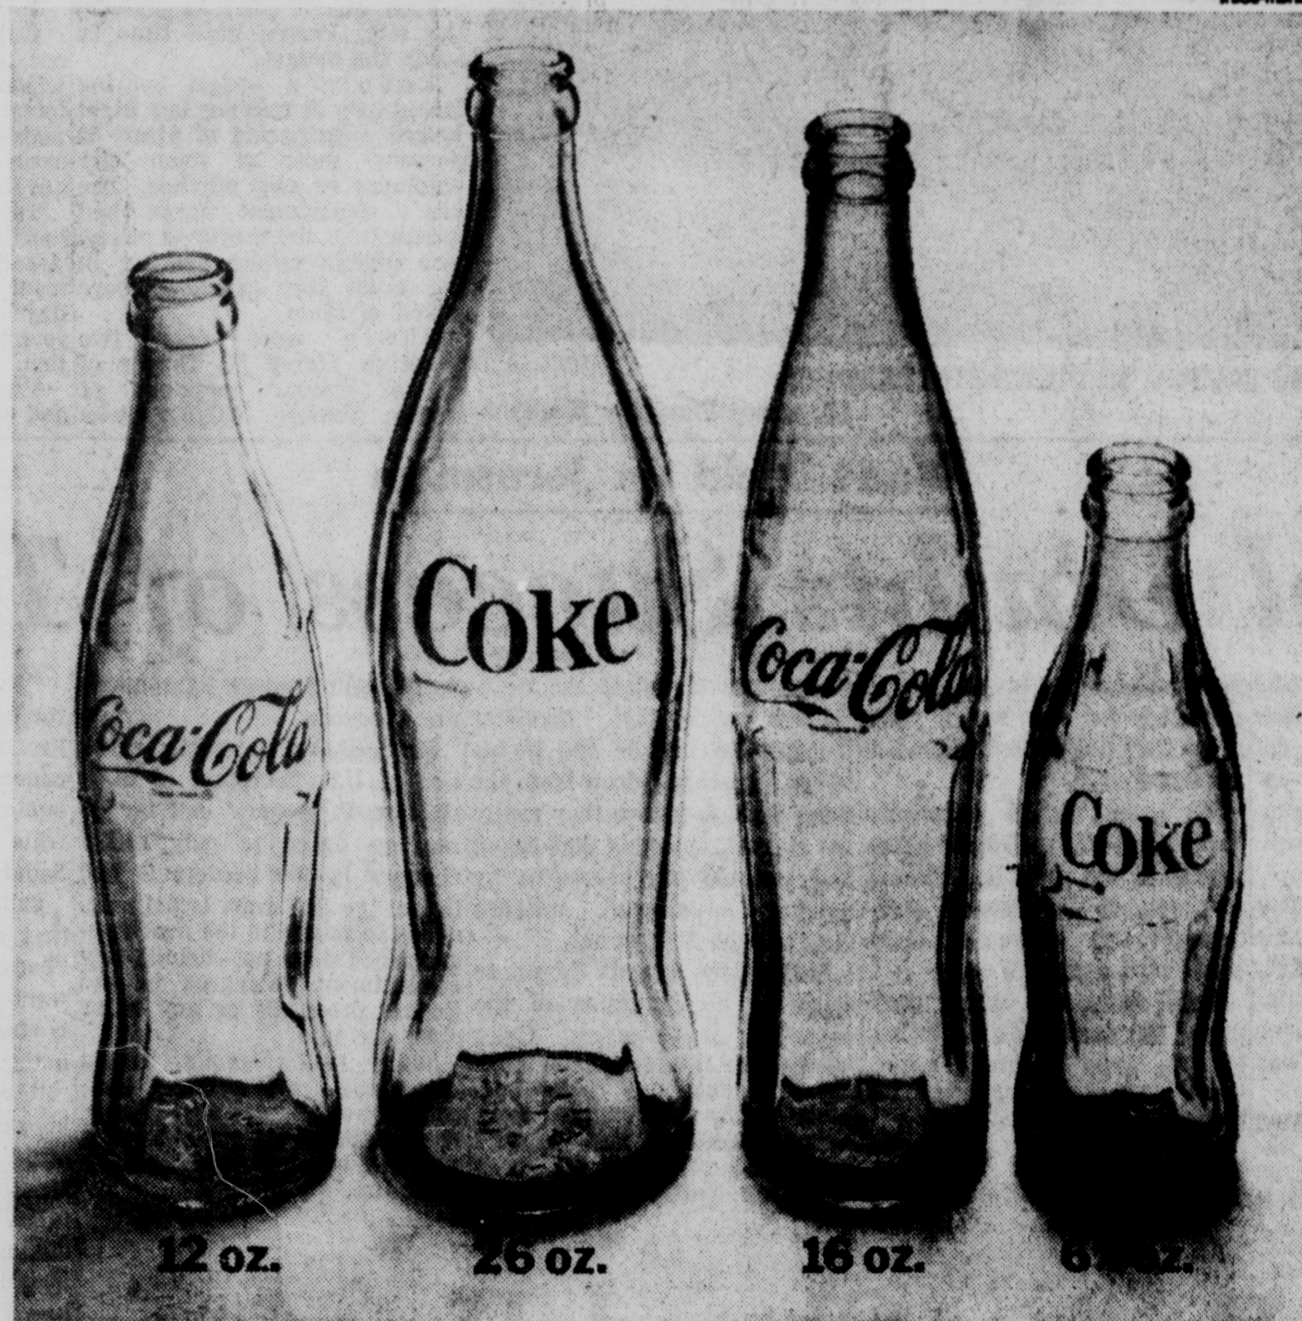

These doctors' tests proved, beyond a doubt, that Anacin is just as effective to relieve tension headaches, yet Anacin needs no prescription and is far more economical.

With Anacin, headache pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is not narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.

Next time take powerful, fast-acting Anacin. Anacin Tablets give the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product for which doctors wrote 21 million prescriptions last year.

A plan to keep our two-way bottle from becoming a one-way bottle.

A returnable bottle of Coke is the least expensive way you can enjoy the real thing. Coke. Provided you return the bottle. If people don't, it can be an expensive way to buy Coca-Cola. For you. For us. For the community. Now for years, we had a 2¢ deposit on most returnable bottles of Coke. And the system worked great. But lately a lot of our returnable bottles have been winding up in the garbage instead of being returned. (The last thing our communities need is more garbage.)

So we're going to give you an added incentive to return returnable bottles. They'll be worth a nickel. If you return the bottle, you'll still be paying the same low price for the Coca-Cola. Rockefeller Will Leave Tax Question Dangling ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller will go before the 1971 legislature next Wednesday with a tale of fiscal woes, but, he'll leave the question of tax increases dangling for a few more weeks.

According to highest-ranking administration sources, the governor's annual State of the State message to the legislature opening session will play a sort of waiting game.

He will tell the lawmakers that the state is in serious financial trouble. And this will invite the conclusion that tax increases are inevitable.

But Rockefeller won't say so directly, the sources explained Tuesday. However, he will be careful to avoid any impression that he could hold the line on taxes.

This semi-preview of Rockefeller's message was given to State Capitol reporters at a meeting with sources who specified they were not to be identified by name.

They explained that, in drafting his new budget, Rockefeller is still counting heavily on the increased federal aid he had requested from Washington. He has appealed for a revenue-sharing plan that would pump an extra $1 billion into the state treasury next year.

What Rockefeller is going to do, the sources said, is delay completion of his budget plan until he finds out what Nixon offers in his own State of the Union message, due on Jan. 20.

The governor does not have to submit his budget until Feb. 1. If Nixon recommends a substantial boost in federal aid, then Rockefeller will pencil the money into his own revenue column — under "estimated increases in federal aid." That's legitimate enough. The only problem is that, if the Congress subsequently failed to vote the money, the state budget would be thrown out of balance.

In his State of the State message, Rockefeller will say that he has had a tough struggle with the present budget because revenues were sharply curtailed by the national economic slump. He has ordered stringent economy measures calculated to hold total spending close to $7 billion.

But, he will say, he faces mandated spending increases of at least $1.2 billion in the next budget, mostly for state-aid and employee pay raises—compared with a maximum revenue growth of $500 million. Moreover, he will say, the state is confronted by fairly legitimate demands for even greater spending for such matters as education and urban problems. If granted, the revenue gap would be enormous.

Some of the added spending problems were created solely by Rockefeller. During his re-election campaign, he promised to give communities more money to put more policemen on the street and to step up state efforts in such fields as housing, transportation and higher education.

The sources said that Rockefeller would recommend some new programs but that they would not be nearly as ambitious as they might be in more comfortable times.

The governor also can be expected to propose a fresh look at the basic structure of the state and local governments, to determine whether drastic changes should be made to help government function more efficiently and economically.

In addition, he will renew his appeals for a "no-fault" automobile insurance system and for a "universal health insurance" law mandating coverage for all residents of this state.

Rockefeller was in Albany Tuesday, working on his State of the State message and the fourth term inaugural address he will deliver New Year's Day.

Lindsay Rejects Welfare Fund

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mayor John V. Lindsay rejected his administration's record $2.4 billion 1971-72 welfare budget Tuesday because the nation's biggest city "is no longer financially able to meet the rising costs of relief programs."

"This action was drastic and unprecedented but absolutely necessary," Lindsay said. "The request for increased welfare and Medicaid costs controlled by federal and state regulation exceeds the request submitted last year at this time by $300 million."

Pressing New York financial demands from another direction were demands for higher pay by the city's police, fire and sanitationmen. Contracts governing the three services expire midnight Thursday.

The 11,300-member Uniformed Firefighter's Association has vowed to undertake a "job action" 9 a.m. EST Friday unless the fireman's $10,950 annual salary is boosted to $16,000. The threatened slowdown would not affect fire alarms and emergency calls.

Police receive the same salary, and the 30,000-member Patrolmen's Benevolent Association has made the same wage hike demand. The 10,000 members of the Uniformed Sanitationmen's Association want their $9,871 yearly salaries upped by $1,500.

Only firemen are permitted in their contract to take a "job action."

"It is clear that the City of New York is no longer financially able to meet the rising costs of public assistance and increased medical fees, both of which are mandated by the state and federal governments," Lindsay told a news conference.

"The city is now in the midst of difficult negotiations with the police, fire and sanitation unions," the mayor said. "We have been forced by the severity of our fiscal situation to limit strictly the funds available for wage increases for these uniformed services. This understandably troubles our police, fire and sanitationmen."

New York is "sick to death of having the federal and state governments ram down our throats mandated costs for a system that doesn't work," Lindsay said.

Champlain Sludge--Vermont Wants Action

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI) — Vermont officials want action, not studies, on the sludge deposits in Lake Champlain.

The state formally filed suit with the U.S. Supreme Court Tuesday against neighboring New York State and the International Paper Co. at Ticonderoga, N.Y., to force the defendants to remove the 300 acres of sludge deposited on the bottom of the lake by the operations of the paper company.

"We had no choice but to go to the courts," Atty. Gen. James M. Jeffords said.

The attorney general had been threatening the action for months as New York sought to delay dredging pending further study.

Last autumn, New York and International Paper dredged some samples of sludge from the lake for testing to determine whether complete dredging was feasible. The testing came about through an agreement between Govs. Deane C. Davis of Vermont and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Edward Hinman, president of International paper.

Vermont officials had hoped the study would result in removal of the sludge, but, instead, New York officials said the study only proved that about a year more of study was needed because of the possibility that dredging might disturb the inert sludge and lead to a greater pollution problem.

New York told the Interior Department two weeks ago that it could not come up with a plan to relieve pollution caused by the sludge until at least next December.

"We are tired of waiting. The time is for action," Jeffords said.

The suit asks that the company be stopped from discharging wastes from its old plant, that the sludge be eliminated as a public nuisance and that Vermont be awarded unspecified amounts in punitive and compensatory damages.

In Albany, Henry L. Diamond, New York State's commissioner of Environmental Conservation, said while he had not seen the legal papers he "resented the inference New York State is soft on sludge."

"We have a continuing program to abate pollution of Lake Champlain, involving not only International Paper, but others," Diamond said. "We have outlined a specific plan for solution of this problem."

Vermont's case was based on what Jeffords called "simple trespass" in that the sludge was "dumped on our land and left there."

Besides stressing the pollution in its 13-page brief, Vermont also alleged the sludge impedes navigation in interstate waters, prevents the free travel of interstate waters, prevents the free travel of interstate commerce and has caused New York State to illegally alter an interstate boundary.

Under court procedures, New York will have 60 days to file an answer to Vermont's suit with another two-months allotted to permit Vermont to respond to the New York brief before the Supreme Court decides whether to accept the case.

Food Stamp Cash--Some New Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has insisted all along that the nation's food stamp program prevents recipients from spending the coupons on such goods as liquor, cigarettes, soap and toilet paper.

Now, under a new Agriculture Department policy, if a stamp user moves briskly enough he might be able to collect enough cash in change from food stamps to pay for a cup of New Year's cheer.

Or possibly a bar of soap. Effective today, the department said, grocers will be permitted to pay up to 49 cents cash as change from food stamp sales. This rule will apply to each coupon transaction.

Until now, change for stamps amounting to less than 50 cents had to be in the form of credit slips issued the customer by the store. These could be traded later only at the same store and for approved items on the stamp list.

But now, with customers able to get up to 49 cents cash each time they spend food stamps, there are no restrictions on spending the change they collect.

Another new rule will allow food stamps to be used for bottle or other container deposits on eligible items. Previously, a customer could buy a bottle of milk with stamps but had to pay cash for the deposit.

Cleanup

City Department of Public Works equipment is beginning to make headway in the snow removal operations. Charles J. Cole, DPW superintendent, said nearly 20,000 cubic yards of snow has already been removed from the curbs. Most of the business district has been completed and adjacent residential areas and most of Broadway, Cole said. The fluffy precipitation, if more comes, could be a real problem. It cannot be dumped into the creek. This is forbidden by both federal and state regulations, Cole said. The city is dumping the snow at Deitz Stadium and various empty city-owned lots. "We are rapidly running out of space," Cole said. The removal operation above was at Clinton Avenue. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Wawarsing Town Board

Agency Gets New Office

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

ELLENVILLE

After two months of uncertainty and several private meetings, representatives of the anti-poverty agency here and the Wawarsing Town Board have worked out an accommodation which will allow the agency to operate from an office on the ground level floor of the Town Hall.

The agency, called the Wawarsing Neighborhood Service Center, is currently operating from a larger two-room office on the second floor of the building but must soon abandon this space which according to a November Town Board ruling is needed by the town government.

Subsequently, Mrs. Helen Oliver, director of the Neighborhood Center located in a "suitable" store front facility elsewhere in the Village of Ellenville, but the Town Board rejected her request for financial assistance to pay the rent and instead offered her the smaller facility in the Town Building.

At the Town Board's annual meeting here, Monday night, Lou Grimaldi, executive director of the UCAC, representing Mrs. Oliver, who is on vacation, told the board that its proposal would be acceptable if modifications were made to increase the privacy of the office.

The Town Board indicated that this would be done and assured Grimaldi that Mrs. Oliver would be able to maintain her present office while these modifications were being made. Contacted later, Mrs. Oliver told the Freeman that the smaller office would be acceptable to her when and if the changes are made.

The Neighborhood Center, which offers a variety of services to the needy in the Ellenville area receives a federal subsidy through the UCAC, but like all community action projects experts partial financial assistance from the municipalities its services.

The Town of Wawarsing has budgeted $1,000 to the center for the coming year and is credited for another $1,600 as "in kind" payment for rental of the space used by the center.

Rhinebeck Principal

Personal Disagreement

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK District Principal Ralph C. Steeves of the Rhinebeck Central School District said that he personally "disagreed" with some of the conclusions of the County Planning Department concerning the Rhinebeck District.

In speaking with The Freeman he said that future building needs and plans, as far as they have progressed, will probably be included on the agenda of the next regular Board of Education meeting.

A special committee on building, with Trustee James Kelley as chairman, has been operational for about six months to study future needs.

According to Steeves, the data used in the county report was "valid in 1968, but our growth has exceeded those expectations."

The conclusions of that report said, "Of primary importance to this district is the selection of a new elementary site and the construction of a 300-pupil school."

It also noted, "By even the most conservative estimates, a major increase is expected in the demand for secondary school space between Sept. 1969 and Sept. 1970. A 300-pupil addition to the Rhinebeck High School would provide adequate space for secondary school students well into 1973."

Steeves felt that the addition approach was not the best, since any planning now would necessarily not be fully implemented until after 1973 anyway. "An addition is not the direction to take," he said.

Steeves pointed out that the high school, rated for 600 capacity, would exceed that by Sept. 1971, and there is already a need for more elementary space with the refurbished the president of the Rhinebeck Bulkeley School providing a Chamber, and Karl Sanford buffer zone of more than 200 students.

Dutchess Chambers

National Participants

RHINEBECK Rhinebeck and Red Hook Chambers of Commerce are participating in a national project by circulating petitions asking President Nixon to enforce the narcotics laws.

The petition reads, "I holding human life as highest value in heart and mind, petition, the President of our country, to persevere in the seeking of all laws and enforcement thereof as may be needed for the elimination of the greatest curse faced by this nation, the drug problem, which is presently eating away both spirit and body of its many and increasing victims."

"I petition that you place the fullest resources of our great nation behind such laws without delay, the generations now being born and bred may face the beauties and challenges of living with minds and bodies as intended by nature."

Mrs. Helen Z. Battistoni is president of the Rhinebeck Chamber, and Karl Sanford president of Red Hook.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, DECEMBER 30, 1970

Nixon Sets Legacy

President Nixon was in rare spirit in his Christmas tree-lighting speech. He dwelt on the legacy he would like to leave when he quits the White House: Peace in foreign policy, a healthy economy, a nation of unpolluted air and water, a mental climate of understanding.

Was this a preview of his State of the Union address to the 92nd Congress, less than a month away? Was it wishful thinking? Or will he have had a program to translate these desires into true legacy? If he has, then he can redeem his administration and his leadership. For he has hit on some of the very things that the people of this country want. They will be grateful to the man who produces them.

This speech showed the Nixon who comes through reverses and recovers his spirits and goes on to win. Like his defeat in 1960 followed by his defeat for Governor of California in 1962. He bounced back in 1968 to win the Presidency.

Now he has the biggest crisis of his political life. His personal campaign for a friendlier Congress, aided and abetted by Vice President Agnew, was a flop. No matter how he glosses it over, he was told bluntly by the Republican governors that a loss of eleven of their number cannot be anything but a defeat. He is beginning to believe their assessment. He must realize now that he alienated the workers by evading the issues that meant most to them, the economic downturn, the higher prices, the unemployment rate.

His Christmas tree speech showed that he will do something about all this. He has two years in which to reverse the trend. It won't be easy, but it can be done. If he can bring a rise in the economy in time to reduce unemployment, to hold prices steady, he can attract the unorganized workers who outnumber the organized four to one. Then he can leave a legacy of which he can be proud.

New Year's Resolutions

The season of the New Year's resolution is here. The decade of the 70's will be one year old tomorrow. Aside from the usual pledges of reform having to do with smoking, drinking and what-not, it would seem the time has come for all thoughtful citizens to take the pledge in a number of matters beyond the strictly personal—matters that may determine the kind of a nation we will be living in at the end of the 1970's.

A few good resolutions in behalf of the environment, the solvency of government, a higher quality of performance on the job and the rights of the other fellow are certainly badly needed. The countryside could use less beer cans and litter. Every level of government could do with less demands from private citizens and groups trying to get something for nothing. A new dedication to pride in a job well done might do more than anything else to restore a national sense of values. Finally, if everyone abided by a resolution to respect persons and property, the law and order issue would be resolved at a single stroke.

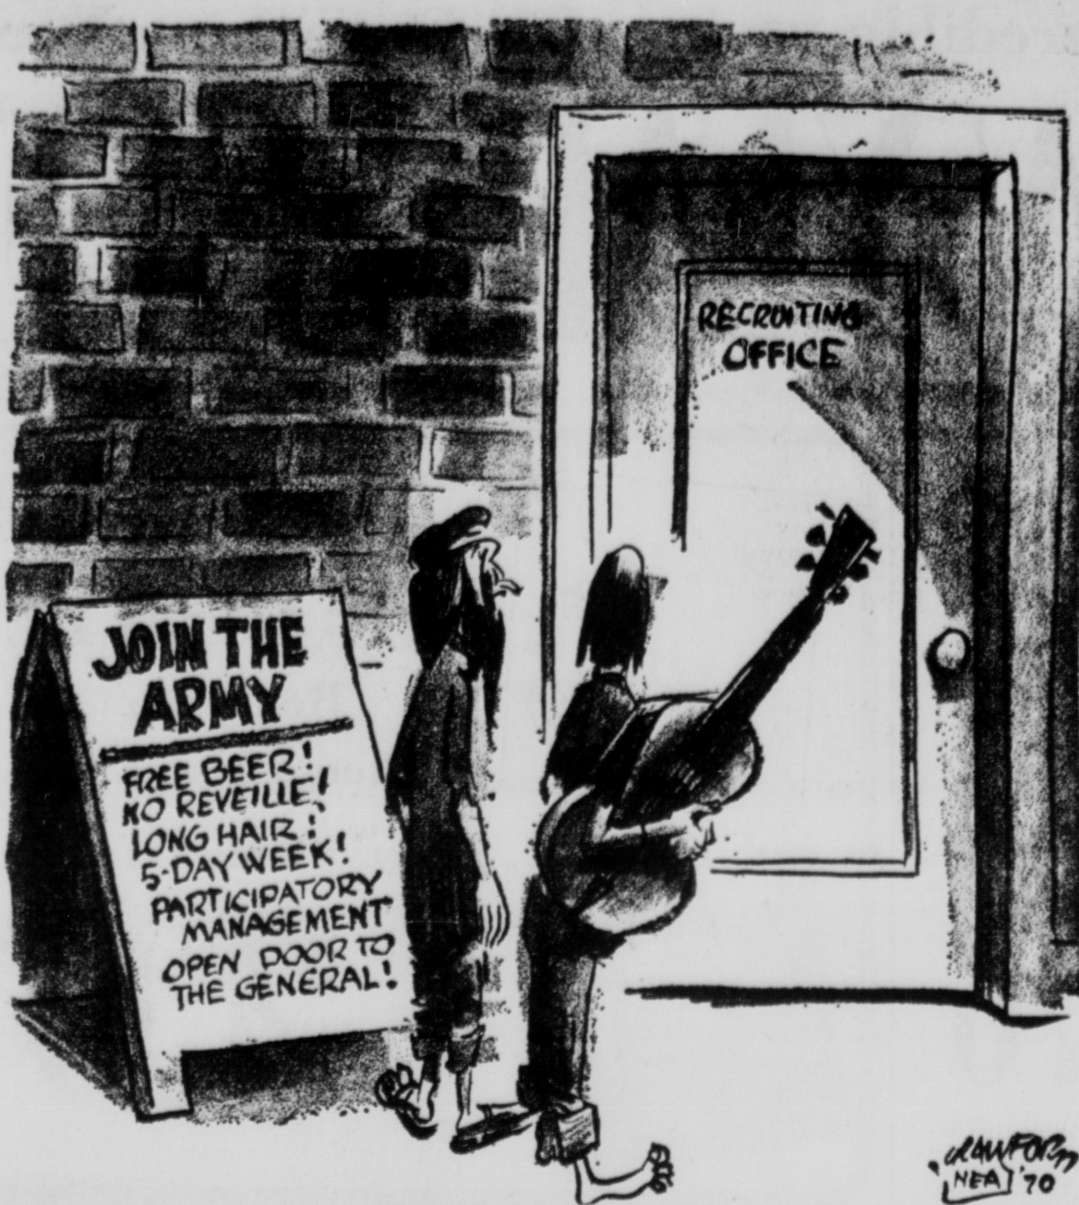

Good resolutions like these could make the difference between just another miserable year and a truly happy New Year.

National Institute of Mental Health scientists report that marijuana remains in the bloodstream for more than three days and it takes more than eight days for the human body to rid itself of all chemical traces of the drug. It is more potent than had been known.

BERRY'S WORLD

... But I CAN'T get the picture in any better, that's a microwave oven!

David Lawrence Says Red China Isn't Carrying Out U.N. Charter Rules

WASHINGTON — The diplomatic world seems to be taking it for granted that the United States is eager to see Red China admitted to the United Nations, without, of course, disturbing the status of Nationalist China. The fact is that the Peking regime is assuming the initiative towards improving its relations with certain countries and sees advantages in becoming a member of the U.N.

So far as the State Department is concerned, it has shown no indication of opposition to Red China's efforts. This has come as a surprise to many people in America who have watched the course of the Vietnam war and observed the assistance given by the Chinese Communists to North Vietnam, both in military supplies of various kinds and in support of Hanoi's actions.

But should the State Department welcome into the United Nations a government that is guilty of encouraging North Vietnam, a nation which practices inhumanities towards American prisoners and refuses to negotiate a peaceful settlement of the war?

Should the United Nations accept as a member a government which is violating the basic principles of the U.N. Charter?

It can be well understood why Peking was anxious to open diplomatic relations with Canada and Italy and other countries. The answer is plain — there is profit involved. The Red Chinese want to expand their trade wherever possible.

But today American lives are being lost in the Vietnam War, and casualties have run into many tens of thousands in the past few years. The Red Chinese have played a part in bringing about these sacrifices of human life. Are the rulers in Peking willing now to exercise their influence with the North Vietnamese to make a settlement in Indochina? Do they want peace in Southeast Asia, or do they intend to intervene and instigate wars of aggression in other parts of Asia the moment United States forces are withdrawn?

These are factors that worry American officials. It doesn't seem plausible that such concern will vanish when the fortunes of the Red Chinese are boosted by giving the Peking government the prestige of membership in the United Nations. The Red Chinese promptly announced their approval of the new government in Chile that is basically Communist and have indicated that Communist influence will be exerted in other parts of Latin America whenever the opportunity presents itself.

Is Red China a friend or a foe of the United States? This is the question facing the State Department as it formulates its policy.

There are many governments that have not taken sides in the controversy over the admission of Red China to the U.N., and there has been no major campaign to keep the Peking regime out of the organization for the last two years. The Department of State has lately shown signs that it will not strongly resist. The inference that other governments have drawn is that Washington will not feel affronted if they vote to seat Red China. But is this the true attitude of the United States government?

The history of the relations of Red China with this country has not been good. It has been filled with incidents of a disturbing nature. The Chinese Communists participated openly against the U.N. forces in the Korean War, and frequently there have been threats of possible conflict over the years. But the real issue is whether Red China is a friend or enemy of the United States when it provides weapons and other military supplies to the North Vietnamese and encourages them not to negotiate a settlement at Paris.

The Peking government could help to bring peace in Vietnam and to the world if it were truly a "peace-loving" state which accepts and is "able and willing to carry out" the obligations contained in the charter of the United Nations.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

As a licensed cynic, I am certain that New Year's resolutions are made to be stated strongly and abridged weakly. Make them, don't keep them is my motto. Temptation is completely worthless unless a man is prepared to succumb to it. My resolutions, which will be kept on January 1st and discarded at sundown, are these products of profound meditation.

I will stop lounging at the breakfast table as though I had died the night before. When my wife says something completely insane, like: "You give me new slip covers for my birthday and I'll give you new slip covers for yours," I will not don the cast-iron expression and wonder where I found her. I will say: "Yes, Hon. You do that. We'll wear them together."

Do less work around the house. When a man does nothing, he points at work. I will stop pointing. Break the blades on the lawnmower. Stop saying "You got" when you mean "You have." I will make snap judgments on politics and politicians, thus assuring myself of being wrong one hundred per cent of the time.

I will chip in and find a new speechwriter for Spiro, one who knows one more figure of speech in addition to alliteration. Also, I will listen to Spiggy, if he promises to listen to me. I will look at girls more frequently, and speculate less.

I will stop looking in a mirror when we are dressed to go out, and be content with my Idaho potato figure. This will stop that night-time nausea. I will practice saying "No" to friends of noble intentions and minuscule minds. It is important to cease and desist the finely-honed wit which induces pitiful smiles from my family. No appreciation.

When she asks how she looks, lie. Learn to live in jungles and traps on all gold courses. Getting there is all the fun. Buy a watch for the TV program director; assume he can read time. Stop kissing casual friends who offer a cheek — especially the men.

Don't think of relatives as relatives. Regard them as North Vietnamese. Listen to half of what your physician tells you, because he half knows. Get to sleep before 2 a.m. and try to lift the alabaster frame out of the sack before 10 a.m. Douse the light at 1:45 and get up at 11.

I must learn to stop drawing my belly in when I'm in sports attire — my lips become cyanotic. Be a tea totaller. Stop counting your blessings; count your hair. Do not bristle at friends who have quit smoking and have toothpicks in their mouths. Buy a foam rubber security blanket.

Go to the fights more often; it's fun to watch others. Stop criticizing steak now that you can afford one. Visit your grandchildren more often; the little innocents love you and aren't wise to you yet. Bring them something I can use.

Update my thinking so that when intellectuals discuss pot I will not be certain it's something you drop a chicken in. Count your true friends on the fingers of one thumb. Don't rise to the bait when you do an oil painting of a ship at sea and the maid says: "Love the bungalow, but the lawn is lumpy."

Do not scratch, yawn or look at your watch when guests are present. Tell them to go home. Stop reading sexy novels; it inhibits your swing. Take long walks as Dr. Edwin Boyle suggested — but why one way? Bear in mind all year that the Water Pik was not intended for navel.

Listen to at least one TV commercial a night; they're paying the freight so think of freights. When you pay a check in a restaurant and stand up do not listen to the children when they say: "What's that on your pants, Dad?"

Take the Kellys to the Bahamas for the fishing more frequently. Try to remember when people ask for advice, they don't want it. Dial a prayer for Richard Nixon. Stop amateurishness laziness; be a pro. Eat at Dinty Moore's, where they give girlies to steady customers.

Go to church in the middle of the week; He too feels lonely. Don't throw a party; throw a tantrum. Do the fit bit. Stop all white lies; the color fades. Don't respond to her sleepy questions when you know she's conducting a test.

Be friendly; say hello to a stranger and get slapped in the kisser. Do not speak in code on the telephone; remind yourself that J. Edgar has the key. Tell the children once a day they look great, not grate.

Stop making resolutions...

Jack Anderson Says FTC's Mary Gardiner Jones Talks Consumer, Works for Monopoly

WASHINGTON — Federal Trade Commissioner Mary Gardiner Jones, whose speeches flame with consumerism, has secretly and unaccountably blocked a major anti-monopoly suit that would save millions for consumers.

The difference between Miss Jones' public and private stances shows up in an amazing set of memos prepared for the eyes only of her fellow commissioners.

At issue is the controversial merger of United Fruit Co., to "Chiquita Banana" people, and AMK, the fourth largest meat packer. This multi-million-dollar marriage of fruit and meat has been handled, significantly, by the former law office of President Nixon and Attorney General John Mitchell.

On May 6, the FTC moved to break up the merger. The FTC staff produced an artillery barrage of evidence to show that the merger would badly injure the consumer.

But the peppery Mary Gardiner Jones intervened behind the scenes to block proceedings against the merger. In a Nov. 6 memo sent only to the Commissioners, for example, she raised belated questions about the "merit" of the case. "I basically disagree," she said, "with some of the hard-hitting recommendations."

With Miss Jones against key sections of the complaint, the prosecution began to bog down. But the Director of the Competition Bureau, Alan Ward, suddenly hit back with his own secret memo on Dec. 1.

Consumers' Case

Ward advised the commissioners strongly that "we have a respectable case. I do not favor its abandonment." In five carefully-reasoned pages, he told how a merger of the two grocery giants can strike particularly hard at the budgets of school cafeterias and housewives. Not only would prices rise but new firms would have a tough time entering the field to compete, he contended.

This isn't the first time Miss Jones has talked a better consumer's game than she plays. For almost two years, she delayed action against AAMCO Automatic Transmissions while notables like Leo Durocher were hired to lobby the repair shops. Despite Durocher's dulcet words, charges at FTC anti-trust complaint. AAMCO had misled the public with a ghastly roster of "unfair and deceptive acts."

In another crucial 1969 merger case involving the posh Dallas-based firms of Neiman Marcus and Broadway - Hale Stores, Miss Jones reversed herself and went against the consumer. At that time she was vigorously lobbying for the FTC chairmanship.

In a talk with my associate Les Whitten, the unpredictable Miss Jones admitted that she had "flipped" on the Neiman Marcus case, but said "I was stupid. I was naive. I was running for chairman. But I didn't flip flop, for the (political) reasons people accused me of."

On AAMCO, she conceded her intervention had stalled the case. But she added irrepressibly that time had simply slipped by and "all of a sudden, I thought, My God! It's been two years." As to charges that she was playing politics again on the "Chiquita" case to ingratiate herself with President Nixon, Miss Jones laughed: "That's not true. I pretty much knew all along they're not going to name an independent — which is what I really am — as Chairman. I always puzzle people on these mergers. I'm on both sides of the lot."

Senate Showdown

Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okl., plans to force the clubby Democratic caucus to decide whether two of its most powerful members are really Democrats. They are John Stennis and Jim Eastland, both Mississippians, who could lose their Senate seniority if the party disowned them.

The two Senate patriarchs have refused to acknowledge the bi-racial state party certified by the 1968 Democratic Convention. They are registered, instead, with the old-line racist Mississippi party.

NAACP leader and head of the "official" party, has been doggedly visiting Senators urging that the newly recruited Stennis be stripped of his seniority and excluded from the caucus. Henry has contended the same should be done with Buddha like Eastland unless he accepts the bi-racial group.

Harris promised to bring up the matter at the caucus, but he stopped short of agreeing to read Stennis out of the party. More likely, the caucus might set a policy for the future but exempt Stennis and Eastland at least until the next election.

The offices of nine other Senators have given Henry sympathetic ear. Footnote: Harris will also question the Democratic credentials of Virginia's Sen. Henry Byrd, who ran as an independent but may seek to vote with the Democrats so he can keep his seniority.

Washington Expose — In the privacy of his oval office, President Nixon has been stewing over the Kremlin's indifference to his warnings. Despite stern White House warnings, the Soviets went ahead with their build-up in the Middle East and continued to send submarines into the Caribbean, Henry Kissinger, the President's national security adviser, has urged a tougher line with the Kremlin. What worries the President, say insiders, is that the Soviets apparently feel their hands are tied by public opinion. They may go too far, thinking the American public wouldn't support any counter action by the President. This would be a dangerous mistake, say the insiders.

Military Propaganda — The armed forces' newspapers and radio TV stations are supposed to be run free of propaganda. The Defense Department's stated policy is to provide news for servicemen on a par with what they would read in their hometown papers. However, a Pentagon memo, intended for official eyes only, recommends that recruiting propaganda should be forced into service newspapers and broadcasts as "hard" news. The puff material, the memo proposes, "could be designed for Stars and Stripes with appropriate formats." It adds that military radio and TV "may be able to use (the) special news feeds for 'hard' newscasts."

If SALT Fails

No-Treaty Scheme to Limit Arms

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

Prospects now appear so dim for an effective formal treaty with Russia on arms control that U.S. officials are casting about for a way to get some sort of limitation, on the military build-up without depending on a written, signed agreement.

The political situation in the Soviet Union apparently is such that no meaningful treaty could be accepted in Moscow. It would almost certainly be nitpicked to mush.

One such "nontreaty" scheme now being discussed in the highest circles of the Nixon administration would make mutual arms control a sort of scientific guessing game which would slowly progress in fits and starts, propelled along by hints and "signals" first by one side and then the other.

The first step would be for the United States to pin-point precisely those U.S. arms programs which cause the greatest suspicion in Moscow. (Not necessarily those Moscow condemns the most vigorously in its propaganda broadcasts.)

These can be explored in depth at the current Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT).

Hopefully, the Russians, meanwhile, would make a determination of those Soviet military systems which cause the greatest concern in Washington.

The second step would be for Washington to determine which of the U.S. programs could be cut back, limited or altered without endangering over-all U.S. defenses.

Suppose we found, for example, that the U.S. anti-ballistic missile system, its growth past a certain level or some aspects of the overall system caused the Russian leaders to firmly believe the United States was preparing for a preemptive strike ability.

Suppose then, that our analysis showed that we could safely alter the ABM system to meet the Kremlin's fears.

We could then signal the Russians unofficially that we were ready to cut back or hold down or alter the ABM in this particular way, provided.

We had an informal signal from the Russians indicating they were ready to cut back, hold down or alter some crucial aspects of, say, the SS9 intercontinental missile which bothers U.S. defense men exceedingly.

Neither government would be committed. But each side would know what the other supposedly was getting ready to do.

Then we would begin to cut back, reduce the growth or alter the particular system (say the ABM) and watch carefully to make certain the Soviet Union also started along the cut back or hold back route it had signaled.

We would proceed cautiously. If we found that the Soviet Union was not, in fact, holding to its side of the informal bargain, we would be prepared to again step up our production of the system we had planned to limit — or push ahead on some alternate arms program.

We would signal Moscow of this intent in the hopes of salvaging the arrangements.

It can be readily seen that such a system of arms control would be very difficult to implement and to enforce and that it would be full of the most dreadful pitfalls.

But to some very influential men here convinced of the necessity of a mutual arms pullback and now cynical about the prospects of a meaningful arms limitation treaty with Russia, this piecemeal, informal type of arrangement has a great appeal, if only because they can think of nothing better.

Volunteer Army Is Approved by Youth

While they have only lukewarm feelings toward the Selective Service draft lottery, American young people are far more certain that they would like to see the country switch to an all-volunteer Army.

According to the National Gilbert Youth Poll, a nationwide survey of 3,000 people aged 14 to 25, only 55.2 per cent of American youths rate the draft lottery system as either "excellent" (6.8 per cent), "very good" (9.9 per cent) or "good" (38.5 per cent). But 67.8 per cent of them say that the proposal for an all-volunteer Army and an end to the draft is "excellent" (29.1 per cent), "very good" (17.1 per cent) or "good" (21.6 per cent).

One of those who supported the draft lottery, a 21-year-old U.C.L.A. coed, said: "It's better than before. It gives a guy a chance to plan his future a bit better."

And a Northwestern University woman commented, "My boy friend's number is 354, so it's great."

But there were plenty of doubters, with 19 per cent labeling the lottery system "not very good" and 25.1 per cent calling it "poor."

"You can still have strings pulled at your home board," a Hartwick College (Oneonta, N.Y.) coed contended.

A high school sophomore in Minneapolis co-opted: "It's horrible. Just because I was born on a certain day means I get stuck."

The reasons for supporting the all-volunteer Army ran along these lines:

"It would be great because I know I wouldn't volunteer, and therefore I'd never have to go" (17-year-old University of Michigan man).

"It's an excellent idea because everybody involved would know why he's in the Army" (24-year-old Wisconsin man).

"In a volunteer Army, those who want to kill can kill" (19-year-old Northwestern University coed).

Of the youths polled, 32.2 per cent said the all-volunteer Army was either not a very good idea (20 per cent) or a "poor" idea (12.2 per cent).

One of the opponents, a U.C.L.A. girl, said: "It's a bad idea because of the attitude of the country. No one will join."

The strongest supporters of the current draft lottery system were those 22 and older, 67.9 per cent of whom approved of the lottery (against the over-all 55.2 per cent), and Southern young people, who recorded a 69.8 per cent of the 22 and

Those two groups were also least enthusiastic about the volunteer Army proposal, 42 per cent of the 22 and older youths and 37.3 per cent of those in the South opposing it (against the 32.2 per cent opposition overall).

'Deep-Freeze Babies' Forecast

CHICAGO (AP) — The future birth of "deep-freeze babies" — conceived from eggs and sperm preserved for years in the frozen state — is forecast by a noted American geneticist.

Dr. Bentley Glass, retiring president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, said Monday the technique would allow young couples to delay the birth of their children without risking the higher probability of genetic defects normally associated with advancing age.

He said the young couple could have their genetically healthy reproductive cells stored in a scientific deep-freeze for years, then combined in a laboratory incubator to produce a fertilized egg for implantation and growth within the mother's womb.

Glass, academic vice president of the State University of New York, Stony Brook, said this is one of various science-fiction-like possibilities for the future growing out of "startling progress" being made by a group of researchers at Cambridge University, England.

He was referring to the work of Dr. R. G. Edwards and collaborators who have succeeded in fertilizing human female eggs with fresh sperm outside the womb, and developing them to the stage at which they would normally become implanted in the wall of a woman's womb.

The British scientists have not yet implanted such an embryo into a woman. And they have said that when they do, it would only be to allow child bearing by women whose oviducts, or egg tubes, are blocked.

But Glass, in his farewell address at the 137th meeting of the association, declared, "It should be obvious that the technique can be quickly and widely extended."

He listed these further possibilities from the pioneering procedure:

—"Prenatal adoption" of babies—that is, babies artificially conceived from eggs of donor women, but implanted as embryos and brought to term in the wombs of women unable to conceive children of their own.

—Allowance of the selection of especially healthy donors, both male and female.

—Determination of the sex of the embryo before implantation, so the would-be mother would know beforehand whether to knit pink or blue booties.

UCCS Extends Course Deadline

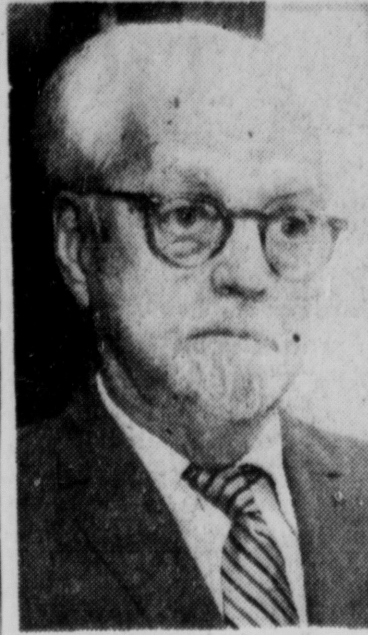

STONE RIDGE — Because of the recent severe winter weather, the deadline for registration for a 14-week Professional Engineering Refresher course has been extended until Monday, Jan. 4, according to Ronald A. Koster, the Director of Continuing Education at Ulster County Community College.

The course will be offered at the College's Stone Ridge campus in the evening starting Jan. 4. It is being sponsored by the Ulster Chapter of the New York State Society of Professional Engineers in cooperation with the Center for Continuing Education at the College.

"Because of the recent snowstorms we feel some interested persons have been handicapped in registering for this course," said Koster, "and for that reason we're extending the registration deadline."

Classes will meet from 7 to 9:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays in Room 627 of the Jacob Hardenbergh Building at the Stone Ridge campus.

The course will review engineering subjects to enable interested persons to prepare for Parts I and II of the National Professional Engineering License Examination given by the state.

Eugene Ormandy Back on Podium After Operation

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Doctors told Philadelphia Orchestra conductor Eugene Ormandy he would not be able to conduct for at least three months following his operation.

Ormandy spent two and one-half hours on the podium Tuesday conducting the orchestra in rehearsal.

The 71-year-old conductor underwent surgery in mid-November for torn ligaments in his left shoulder. He suffered the injury while conducting.

The operation took four hours when surgeons discovered bone damage and the extent of the injury. During his recovery, he developed pneumonia.

Ormandy conducted the orchestra with his right hand. He used his left arm only to point to entrances.

An associate, watching the rehearsal, said: "When he comes back after an illness, he gets better by conducting."

Charged with Bogus Check

TOWN OF ESOPUS — Charged with issuing a fraudulent check at the Grand Union store in Port Ewen, Terrence Fischer, 27, of 403 Broadway, this community, was arrested Monday by Deputy Sheriffs Donald Van Aken and Walter Baschnagel, according to Sergeant Ray Davis.

Fischer was taken into custody on a warrant issued by Town Justice Charles Montafia. He was arraigned before Town Justice John O. Beaver and pleaded innocent. Fischer was released in $50 bail pending a hearing.

State Police said Charles Sweet of Palenville was arraigned before Hunter Town Justice Coverly Chapman. He pleaded innocent to the charge and hearing was adjourned until Jan. 26.

According to authorities, Sweet allegedly called his former wife, a resident of this community, on Dec. 26 and threatened her. The arrest yesterday was made by Trooper A. G. Parker.

What is a home without a mother? All things this world may send. But when we lost our darling mother.

We lost our dearest friend. HAPPY BIRTHDAY, MOM. DAUGHTERS, SON and GRANDCHILDREN

Memorial In loving memory of our mother, and grandmother, Ida A. Geuss, who passed away three years ago, December 30, 1967.

A beautiful memory much dearer than gold. Of a mother whose worth can never be told. A mother with patience and kind understanding. Always giving, never demanding.

Her gentle smile, her warm embrace. Are memories time cannot erase. We loved her then. We love her still. In our hearts we always will.

DAUGHTERS, SON and GRANDCHILDREN

Memorial In loving memory of my wife, Ida A. Geuss, who passed away 3 years ago today, December 30, 1970.

I think of you in silence. No eye can see me weep. But many a silent tear is shed When others are asleep. When I am lonely and everything goes wrong. I seem to hear you whisper, "Cheer up and carry on." Each time I look at your picture.

You seem to smile and say "Don't worry. I am only sleeping. We'll meet again some day."

So you who have a loving wife. Cherish her with care For you'll never know the loneliness 'Til you find she isn't there.

Why the rich get richer.

A rich man is someone who has $500 lying around that he won't need for a while.

If you're that rich, you can get even richer with a Bankers Passbook account at State of New York National Bank: minimum balance $500. (And additional deposits must be at least $50.)

The Bankers Passbook resembles a savings passbook, but there are big differences.

The biggest difference is that the Bankers Passbook pays more interest. 5%. Compounded quarterly. From day of deposit to day of withdrawal.

But you must be able to do without that $500. Because we want 90 days' notice before you take any of it out.

We do give you one small break: amounts on deposit for 90 days or more (plus any interest) may be withdrawn without notice during the first ten days of a calendar quarter.

Here's an extra-special inducement. We'll give you Free Checking Service if you maintain a Bankers Passbook account with us. And—in that case, you can start your Bankers Passbook account with only $200 (instead of $500). In short, more interest on your savings and Free Checking Service, too.

The Bankers Passbook.

It's one of those things that can help make anyone richer.

You'll find The Bankers Passbook  at The State of New York National Bank.

Carleton Mabee Named Speaker, Paltz Study Club

"Hudson Valley Whites and Blacks-year 1820-1880" will be the subject of a talk to be given by Carleton Mabee on Jan. 5th at the New Paltz Savings Bank, to members of the New Paltz Study Club.

Professor Mabee has produced an eminently readable book which speaks eloquently of the complex problems of our own times as well as of the dilemma facing an abolitionist minority in pre-Civil War America.

His skillful use of anecdotes from reminiscences, memoirs and letters adds to the liveliness of his narrative and gives welcome glimpses of abolitionists as ordinary human beings, rather than stereotyped reformers. He plans to show slides to illustrate his talk.

Prof. Mabee has also written "The American Leonardo of Samuel F.B. Morse" which won for him a Pulitzer Prize; The Seaway Story, a history of Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Development. He has also contributed to the Nation, Saturday Review, Antioch Review, Christian Century and the Encyclopedia Britannica.

At the present time, Carleton Mabee is doing research on the separate schools for blacks in the 19th Century, in the Hudson Region, for which he has received a grant from the American Philosophical Society, to assist in this study.

Halcyon Park Extension Club Holds Banquet

The Halcyon Park Home Extension Club recently held a banquet at the home of Mrs. Jean Hatt.

Saugerties DAR Schedules Meeting January 6th

The Saugerties Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet January 6 at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Freligh. Mrs. Charles Abbott will present a program on lineage research entitled, "Now We Are 70."

The Chapter held its December meeting at the home of Mrs. George Fetty with Mrs. Thelma Young, vice regent, in charge. Mrs. Blanche Yetzer was approved as a member of the Saugerties Chapter.

A first reading of the name of Mrs. Joseph Brocas, ancestor of Jabez Tuttle, was made; sponsors and Mrs. Lewis Gaylord and Mrs. Daniel Lamoureux. It was announced that reinstatement papers for Carol Baker Jones have been sent to the National Society at Washington, D.C.

Appreciation was expressed to Montano's Shoe Store which donated 12 pairs of shoes to be sent to the Indian School. Also, Mrs. Carroll Neiffer gave several pairs of mittens to be sent to Tamassee School; a box of Christmas gifts was sent to Cheri White, the Chapter's adopted student at Tamassee School; 33 yards of material have been sent to the School to be used for the making of clothing by the girls; and an additional package was sent to another DAR school.

The National Defense report was given by Mrs. Robert Freer, entitled, "Message from the Director of the FBI, J. Edgar Hoover." In the conclusion of his message Mr. Hoover wrote: "Let us stop reacting aimlessly to the pressing demands of the lawless. Rather let us start applying the legal limits and safeguards of the law which are meant to penalize those who break it, not those who abide by it."

An interesting historical program was presented by Mrs. George Fetty entitled Flickering Flames.

MR. AND MRS. LYNN C. COMBS of 50 Alda Drive in St. Remy were honored at a surprise 25th wedding anniversary party on Saturday, Dec. 26 at J. Berinato's Restaurant, Kingston. The party was given by their children, Mrs. Edward (Linda) Akins, Sgt. Gil Combs, Mrs. Michael (Carol) Bauer and Beth Combs. Mr. and Mrs. Combs were married in a double ring ceremony with her sister, Mrs. Duane Ingraham, on December 30, 1945 in St. Paul the Apostle Church in Mechanicville by the Rev. James McCusker OSA. The couple also has two grandchildren, Thomas and David Akins. Mrs. Combs is an account clerk for Kingston Consolidated Schools. Her husband is a teacher at Board of Cooperative Educational Services in Kingston. Many gifts were received from relatives and friends. (Free-man photo by Haines).

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Open House Friday At Mayor's Home

Kingston's Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Mrs. Koenig will hold Open House on Friday, New Year's Day, from 2 to 4 p. m. As traditionally a part of greeting the New Year as the singing of Auld Lang Syne, this second annual Open House at 51 Fairview Avenue affords the public an occasion to share the hospitality of the city's chief executive along with an opportunity to greet his family personally.

The Mayor's annual reception on January 1st has been a Kingston custom for many years. And on the first day of 1971, with the tolling of holiday bells still echoing throughout the city, the Mayor and Mrs. Koenig extend their invitation to all their friends, acquaintances, city officials and wives, businessmen and families in the community. They have expressed the hope that the public will set aside a few minutes from their holiday plans to exchange informal greetings with them in their own home environment.

Last year's Open House was attended by almost 200 persons complete with handshaking, well-wishing and scores of Happy New Year greetings. This year the white front door with the holiday wreath at 51 Fairview Avenue will be opened once again in welcome. And Kingston's 28th Mayor and his wife, Marilyn, are hoping for a repeat performance with a host of New Year's Day guests.

Taking a Trip to the Sun? Hints for a Healthy Holiday

Wintertime has become vacation time.

Increasingly, American families seek the sun in their winter vacations and plan holiday trips to such warm-weather places as Mexico, the Caribbean, Central and South America, even Africa and Asia.

If you're planning to follow the sun abroad this winter, make sure that your vacation is a happy and healthy one. Far too many travelers fail to take common sense health precautions before leaving home and, as a result, wind up with a medical emergency or, at the least, suffer discomfort and inconvenience.

What health precautions should you take before you set off for the tropics?

Experts in international health surveyed by the Bayer Company, recommend that the time to see your family physician is as soon as you see your travel agent. Consult your doctor at least four weeks in advance, preferably more, to allow time for immunizations to become effective. Your visit should include a thorough physical checkup.

The only immunization usually required to re-enter the United States is a small pox vaccination. However, for tropical areas, international regulations may call for immunizations against yellow fever, cholera, tetanus, diphtheria, polio and typhoid-paratyphoid. For children, recommended precautions add vaccinations against measles and whooping cough. Other protective injections may be required depending on the specific areas you plan to visit. Your doctor, public health service or travel agent will be able to advise you.

Travel to the tropics may pose some special health considerations. Tropical diseases have been eradicated from western countries, but still are common in underdeveloped areas, particularly if you travel off the beaten path, away from cosmopolitan cities and into rural areas.

Before heading south, the Company suggests that you put together a practical medical kit so that you can easily dispatch those minor medical problems that you encounter abroad as well as at home. Your medical kit should include: insect repellent, eye drops, suntan and skin creams, aspirin, antibiotic ointment, antacids, a fever thermometer, antihistamines, a first aid kit, a kaolin-pectin mixture for diarrhea, milk of magnesia, liquid surgical soap, antifungal powder and ointment and water purification tablets.

Your basic medical kit will save many a groan in the early morning hours when you suffer a headache or stomach upset. In fact, you may find that these items are not always available if you try to buy them on the spot. Even when they can be found, the quality may be doubtful—even in the case of so-called "standard" medication like aspirin.

Be sure to bring along extra supplies of any medicine prescribed by your physician. Tuck spare eyeglasses into your suitcase. Sunglasses are a must. Supplementary salt tablets can be helpful in preventing heat disorders.

To further assure an all-around sunny holiday, experts advise:

- Pack light, loose fitting clothes. It's especially important in the tropics to wear comfortable clothes that will give you maximum ventilation. Wear shoes at all times because of the danger of picking up hookworm.

- Be careful of the tropic sun. Bring along a sun hat or other protective head gear, and use common sense in acquiring a tan.

- Be sure to put on that hat and sunglasses, and apply protective creams.

- Be careful of the water. Limit your swimming to the ocean or to swimming pools. Avoid fresh water, such as lakes and streams, because of the possible danger of contracting schistosomiasis.

- Be wary of what you eat. Avoid salads, sauces and milk products. Eat raw fruits and vegetables only if they can be washed in bottled or boiled water and then peeled. Don't drink fresh milk, boil it first. Stay away from cold salads and bread rolls offered locally. Don't indulge in the cold platter presented in the hotel lobby in a tropical area.

- Exercise caution in what you drink. Don't drink water right from the tap. Use bottled water both for drinking and brushing your teeth.

- Employ moderation in what you do. Jetting through times zones can disturb your internal biological clock. The result may be headache, fatigue, irritability and loss of appetite—sometimes lasting for days. Take a bath, an aspirin or two, and a nap when you arrive at your destination, and you'll avoid a lot of discomfort. In general, take it easy on sightseeing, eating, drinking and sports.

Happy vacations are healthy vacations. Be sure you enjoy your time and place in the sun!

Hints from Heloise for Today's Busy Woman

Dear Heloise:

When I buy a new dust mop I place a plastic bag over the head of the mop. Then secure it to the mop handle with cellophane tape or cord. This bag is not taken off unless it tears, which should not happen.

I then put a dust cloth over the plastic bag. (I use an old baby diaper because it is easy to launder.) Secure the dust cloth around the handle with a safety pin but do not let the pin go through the plastic bag as it might tear the bag. This can be sprayed with dust magnet and it's ready to mop away.

When necessary I remove the dust cloth (old diaper) and wash it. Place a new dust cloth on the mop, spray again and my mop is always ready the next time I wish to use it.

That's it for what it's worth! I think it's a time saver as well as a money saver. You certainly don't have to buy a new mop so often.

Letter of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE:

If you wish to have some bees; Or set out some little trees; If you want to stop a sneeze; Find a place to hide your keys; For advice, ask Heloise; Try new ways to cook green peas; Or what shape to cut your cheese; Best to learn by slow degrees; One by one—ask Heloise.

Doris Robbins

DEAR HELOISE:

If your children are getting a little tired of your old stand-by casserole dishes, here's one that they'll love—and it's so quick!

Into an unbuttered casserole dish, pour cooked, drained macaroni, crumbled corned beef, grated cheese (whatever kind your family likes), then some fairly thin white sauce to which a teaspoon of prepared mustard has been added. Then another layer of same, ending with the grated cheese on top.

Only needs to be heated in the oven until the cheese is melted (as the macaroni is already hot, remember?).

Watch the family lap it up and pour on the compliments! Mrs. W. William

DEAR HELOISE:

To color coconut, I use flavored gelatin and enough water to make a thin paste (but not watery). Put them both in a jar and shake.

DEAR HELOISE:

I want to tell you of the lovely jacket I made from the rings of those soft drink cans.

I had all of my friends collect these rings for me, then I crocheted around each ring and put them together at the sides to make a pretty jacket. I made mine from wool, but you could use heavy cotton thread. I also made a belt.

It's a bit of work sewing the circles together, but you'll have an interesting "crocheted" jacket when you're through.

NEW YEAR'S DAY

A FLORAL TRIBUTE TO "FATHER TIME," is featured in this unique carnations and pom-pom clock design created by Florists' Transworld Delivery (FTD) to preside over New Year's Eve festivities. And, from The Emerald Isle, an invigorating holiday brew, "Golden Whiskey Punch," will provide an inviting departure from the season's more familiar egg-nog.

Novel Party Ideas Ring-In a New Year

Saluting the New Year is one of the oldest of internationally celebrated festivals. Centuries ago, around the world, its advent was signaled by the ringing of church bells, dancing, singing, music, horn blowing and a variety of merry street proceedings. Many more celebrants greeted the New Year in their homes with family and friends.

Today, little has changed. Throughout the country the old but familiar sights and sounds will be repeated from the gay parties in homes, hotels and restaurants right down to the carnival of pandemonium that reigns in New York City's crowded Broadway.

Still, for most celebrants, the center of festivities will be in the home, and the imaginative party-giver will be looking for new ways to make New Year's Eve a memorable occasion. Color, music, new food and drink ideas are the watchwords. Masks, confetti, horns, balloons and flowers are the decorative hallmarks.

The experienced hostess knows that neighborhood variety stores are an inexpensive source for most party favors, and a visit to her local florist will provide a distinctive floral motif for her table. With his help she can further coordinate the colors of her floral piece with balloons, napkins, table-cloth and other party favors.

The decorative focal point of festivities will, of course, be your party table. For a unique floral tribute to "Father Time," as well as a novel centerpiece idea, ask your florist to design a fresh floral clock with both hands pointing to the first hour of the New Year.

The clever host or hostess party theme with a new food or drink recipe. Taking a cue from the internationality of the holiday, borrow an idea from the Republic of Ireland and give a "Slainte" party. Slainte (pronounced slawn-chuh) is an old Irish toast which means "Good Health

And Long Life To You." In keeping with this theme, and as an inviting alternative to the seasonal egg-nog, prepare a delicious and invigorating "Golden Irish Whiskey Punch."

For approximately four quarts of punch, ingredients include: one-half quart Whiskey; one-half quart unsweetened orange grapefruit juice; one canned variety; four ounces lemon or lime juice; one-half cup sugar; two quarts crushed ice.

Take half measures of all the above ingredients and put in an electric blender for about 20 seconds at high speed; pour into punch bowl; repeat this blender mix with remaining half of ingredients and pour in a punch bowl; stir in one quart bottle of pre-chilled club soda, and add bitters to taste; serve in old fashioned glasses and garnish with a stemmed cherry.

And so, as the clock strikes midnight in concert with the familiar sound of Guy Lombardo's Auld Lang Syne, the only thing left to be said is "Slainte!"

Happy New Year!

Easy But Elegant Hors D'Oeuvres Hot from the Oven

Dips, chips breads, spreads...all are important to holiday entertaining. But nothing brings raves like the "little something" that comes out of the oven after your guests have arrived.

This year, with a minimum of trouble and expense, you can make hot puff pastry hors d'oeuvres the hit of your party.

Experimentally minded cooks at Pepperidge Farm have taken the company's frozen patty shells and learned how to thaw and roll them out for dozens of other dishes. Elegant buy easy appetizers are among the results.

Four recipes thoroughly tested in the Pepperidge Farm kitchens are given below. All may be made by rolling out one patty shell at a time. Or, if you want to work with larger quantities of puff paste, simply stack as many patty shells as you like on top of each other, press down with the heel of your hand and begin rolling gently, turning the dough over occasionally to facilitate spreading.

For best results, thaw the patty shells in the refrigerator overnight. Never roll them into a ball, like you would pie dough, and never let them come to room temperature. If the dough warms slightly as you're shaping it, return it to the refrigerator a few minutes before baking.

If you prefer, thaw and roll the dough several days before your party. Cover the shaped appetizers and place them in your freezer. They may go directly from freezer to oven.

Baked puff pastry is so light, flaky and delicious that only a few piquant seasonings — Parmesan cheese, seasoned salt, sesame seeds — are needed to supply the flair of exquisite appetizers.

The recipes below will make about 200 Seasoned Traingles, 60 Cheese Twists or 120 Onions Puffs for under a dollar. The 50 or 60 Cocktail Franks that you can make with one package of frozen patty shells will cost more because of the price of meat. Even so, you would pay much more if you were buying them from a caterer. During this particular holiday season, when everyone is watching his pennies, who could ask for more?

Onion Puffs

One package (ten ounces) frozen patty shells, thawed
Mayonnaise

Scallions or small white onions, thinly sliced, Paprika

On a floured board or pastry cloth, roll out patty shells, one at a time, to form a six inch circle. Cut into small circles using a one and one half inch cutter. Place on an ungreased baking sheet.

Top each circle with a small dab of mayonnaise, and onion slice and another dab of mayonnaise. Sprinkle with paprika. Chill ten minutes. Repeat with remaining shells. Bake in a 400 degree F. oven twelve to fifteen minutes or until golden. Serve hot. One patty shell makes about twenty puffs. One package makes 120.

Cheese Twists

One package (ten ounces) frozen patty shells, thawed

One fourth cup grated Parmesan cheese

One half teaspoon paprika

One eighth teaspoon cayenne

One eighth teaspoon salt

On a floured board or pastry cloth stack and press together two patty shells. Roll into a rectangle. Turn dough over and trim to eight to ten inches. Brush with water.

Combine remaining ingredients. Sprinkle half of rectangle with four teaspoons of the cheese mixture, leaving an one eighth inch margin around the outside edges. Fold over remaining half to form a four by ten inch rectangle. Press together lightly with rolling pin.

Cut rectangle into strips one half by four inches. Grasping strips at each end, twist in opposite directions about three times to form a spiral. Place one inch apart on an ungreased baking sheet, pressing the ends down to prevent them from unwinding. Chill ten minutes. Repeat with remaining shells. Bake in a 400 degree F. oven ten to twelve minutes or until well browned. Serve warm. Makes five dozens.

Seasoned Traingles

One package (ten ounces) frozen patty shells, thawed
Seasoned salt

On a floured board or pastry cloth roll out patty shells, one at a time, into a square. Turn dough over and trim to six by six inches. Brush with cold water and sprinkle with seasoned salt.

Cut into one and one half inch squares using a sharp knife or pastry wheel. Cut each square in half diagonally to form a triangle. Place an inch apart on ungreased baking sheet. Chill ten minutes. Repeat with remaining shells. Bake in a 400 degree F. oven ten to twelve minutes or until golden. Serve warm.

Note: One patty shell makes thirty two triangles. A package makes nearly two hundred. Dough may also be cut into squares, circles, strips or crescents. Other toppings may include mixtures of grated cheese, curry powder, red pepper, chili powder and or garlic salt.

Cocktail Franks

One package (ten ounces) frozen patty shells, thawed
Four to five dozen cocktail franks

On a floured board or pastry cloth, roll out patty shells, one at a time, into a rectangle. Turn dough over and trim to five by six inches. Divide into two two and one half by six inch strips. Cut strips crosswise about one half inch shorter than length of frank.

Roll frank in pastry strip, allowing at least one fourth inch overlap. Moisten end of dough and press to seal. Place seam side down, one inch apart, on an ungreased baking sheet. Chill fifteen minutes. Repeat with remaining shells. Bake in a 400 degree F. oven twelve to fifteen minutes or until golden. Serve hot on a toothpick. Pass mustard if desired. One patty shell makes 8 to 12 cocktail franks, depending on size. One package makes four to five dozen.

PUFF PASTRY HORS D'OEUVRES are a snap when you use frozen patty shells that have been thawed and rolled . . . Cost only pennies, too.

Scores 50 Points in Rout of Wildcats

ND's Carr—Same, Old Model

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Here comes Austin Carr... oops, there goes Austin Carr.

Notre Dame's point-dealing wizard is the same model as last year, running and gunning as good as new.

college basketball Tuesday night Carr helped Notre Dame accelerate to a 15-4 spree late in the first half that gave the Irish a never-topped 53-39 lead at intermission.

The Wildcats climbed to within five points three times in the second stanza but Notre Dame's freeze-ball tactics killed the comeback try.

Top-ranked UCLA walloped William & Mary 90-71 in the Steel Bowl Tournament at Pittsburgh; third-ranked Marquette brushed off Dartmouth 98-55 in the Milwaukee Classic and No. 4 Southern Cal bombed Michigan State 88-63 and Houston stunned No. 10 Tennessee 68-65 in the Trojan Classic at Los Angeles.

Dean "The Dream" Meminger put Dartmouth to sleep with 22 points as Marquette ran its record to 7-0. The Warriors were never headed, scoring the first nine points and building first-half leads of 22-7 and 43-17.

KHS Nips John Jay

HOPEWELL JUNCTION Showing the effects of the holiday layoff, the Fighting Maroons of Kingston High School staged a second half rally to defeat host John Jay, 68-62, in a game played Tuesday night.

John Jay played inspired ball, said Kingston Coach Mike Rienzo. "They have improved greatly since the last time we played them. The tournament they played in helped them."

With Kingston in the lead, 64-62, in the closing seconds, the losers had to foul to keep the winners from running out the clock.

Burris added eight. Williams had 17 for the losers while Davis added 14. Les Miller hit 11.

Union Five Cops Tourney

ALBANY College eight markers, 41-33, at halftime. State's John Quattrochi put the wraps on Union's number one man, Jim Tedisco.

Albany's Jack Jordan, 71-67 in the final of the 10th Annual Capital District Basketball Tournament.

most important of his career as it gave the Indians a 72-48 lead with seconds remaining.

The Union victory ended the Albany domination of the tournament since it was inaugurated in 1961.

Nekos Voted Top Grappler

TROY Pete Nekos, all-winning grappler from the ranks of Rondout Valley High School, led the Senators of Ulster County Community College to a third-place finish in the Collar City Wrestling Tournament at Troy Tuesday night.

Nekos, wrestling in the 126 lb. class, was named as the tourney's Outstanding Wrestler after scoring two outstanding victories in the semi-finals and finals.

The former Gander star completely dominated Adirondack's Dave Baird in the semis, posting a 15-0 decision. In the finals, Nekos was just as dominating, but destroyed his opponent with a convincing 33-second pin. Paul Brown Is Coach of Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—With the help of the National Football League's realignment, Paul Brown lopped two years off his five-year plan, and was named the American Football Conference's Coach of the Year by United Press International for the second straight year.

The 62-year-old Brown said when he took over the expansion Cincinnati Bengals in 1968 that he had a five-year plan to make his club a contender. He got a two-year jump when the NFL and the American Football League merged into six divisions.

PAUL BROWN

Baltimore handed the Bengals a 17-0 shutout last Saturday to end Cincinnati's Super Bowl dream, but Brown had taken the Bengals farther than any NFL expansion team had gone before in a comparable period of time.

Brown is the second coach to win the award two straight years. Lou Saban of the Buffalo Bills won in 1964 and 1965. Brown received 16 of the 33 votes cast. At least two writers from each of the 13 AFC cities participated in the balloting.

Brown Goal Is Crucial

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Hockey League season had stretched some 36 games and, for the New York Rangers, most of it had been successful. Still, defenseman Arnie Brown was worried.

Two years ago, Brown scored 10 goals for the Rangers. Last season he had 15—second highest total for any NHL defenseman. The only blueline man with more was Boston's sensational Bobby Orr who, Brown figures, ought to be in a league of his own anyway.

Then came this season and a big, fat zero in Brown's goals-scoring column. It was becoming distressing.

Now the pressure's off. Brown got his first goal Tuesday night, and it turned out to be the winner in New York's 3-2 victory over California in the only NHL game scheduled.

The victory stretched New York's home ice unbeaten streak to 19 games this season and 21 over two seasons, matching a club record. It also moved the Rangers into first place in the East Division race, one point ahead of idle Boston. The Bruins have played two fewer games.

Berry's 33 Points Pace UCCC Victory

TROY for the winners, hitting for 33 points while picking off 20 rebounds and handing out six assists. Berry was 7-for-9 in the first half from the field. Pat Harder had 15 points and 12 rebounds while Roger Govantes and Gary McDonald added 17 and 13 markers respectively. Cliff Weeks chipped in with 10 points.

In the second game, host club Hudson Valley Community College outlasted Junior College of Albany, 81-76. The games were played in Troy Tuesday night.

UCCC will meet HVCC in the finals tonight at 9 p.m. The consolation game will be played at 7 p.m. Ulster is now 7-4. HVCC has a 3-4 mark.

Glenn Berry was outstanding for the winners, hitting for 33 points while picking off 20 rebounds and handing out six assists. Berry was 7-for-9 in the first half from the field. Pat Harder had 15 points and 12 rebounds while Roger Govantes and Gary McDonald added 17 and 13 markers respectively. Cliff Weeks chipped in with 10 points.

Fulton-Montgomery was ranked fourth in the nation on defense prior to last night's tilt with the Senators and started the game in a zone. However, McDonald provided the key to the Ulster victory as he went four-for-four in the opening minutes. The winners had a 10-4 lead and the losers were forced to go to a man-to-man defense.

With F.M. in a man-to-man Berry and Harder began to control the boards and hit time and again on the fast break. Berry would grab the ball off the boards and streak the length of the floor for the layup. Harder and Weeks were able to pitch out to Govantes and Berry and the Senators were off and running.

Ulster was 44-for-82 from the field, but again had trouble at the free throw line, hitting a poor 17-for-40. In the Hudson Valley game, Ed Harvey banged in a jump shot to break a 40-all tie late in the first half. HVCC was then able to hang on for the win. Kenny Hall had 19 points and Jack Sala chipped in with 15 for the winners. Kevin Mulcahy and Chuck Traynam had 19 and 18 markers for the losers. "This was Berry's best performance to date," said Senator coach Mike Perry. "He rebounded and scored well for us. We were taller and when we forced Fulton out of the zone, we were able to play our game."

"When we forced them out of that zone," Perry continued, "the game really opened up for us. Berry, Govantes and Harder all played well. It was a solid victory. We were taller and were able to rebound and get our running game going." "Tonight's tilt will be a tough one," continued the winning coach. "Hudson Valley did a good job against Junior College. They looked very good and are as tall as we are. I'd have to rate us quicker though, and I think we have a very good chance of coming away with the win. If Berry, Harder and the rest perform as well as they did last night, we'll be right in there," he concluded.

Virginia Five Tops SU

NORFOLK, VA. — The format and results were the same for New Paltz State University's winless Hawks in the Philbant New Year's Tournament here Tuesday.

The New Yorkers passed high scoring West Virginia Tech in the early going, then sloughed off and were beaten, 95-63, for their eighth straight setback of the season.

Not even a New Paltz seasonal individual high 31 points by Don Valdez, senior from Bridgeport, Conn., could materially affect the outcome. Valdez pumped 15 baskets and had one free throw. We had pretty good momentum at the beginning said Coach Si Pesavento, "but midway through the first half we started to bog down."

West Virginia turned in the most impressive scoring performance of the tournament, a far cry from the team that lost 67-69 to Philbant, in the opening round. Randolph Macon College which defeated New Paltz, 83-62

Monday night, turned back host Philbant, 64-58, for the tournament championship.

West Virginia, rolling to a 55-33 halftime lead, field 11 players and everyone got into the scoring column. Don Chaney rimmed 34 on 18 fields and eight free throws. Gourley canned 12 and Eichardson had 14 for the winners.

Aside from Valdez, none of the Hawks was able to hit in double figures. Bruce Kreutzer who was averaging 17.3 prior to the tournament, did not play, having been injured in the Monday contest after contributing 13 points for New Paltz.

Newburgh Blasts Pleasant, 83-65

SCHENECTADY Newburgh Free Academy, the Number One ranked high school basketball team in New York State, defeated Mont Pleasant, 83-65, in the opening round of the Linton High School Holiday Festival. Catholic Central of Troy upset the host club in the second tilt, winning 85-72. The loss broke a 38-game winning streak that extended back to January of 1969.

Since the Linton event is a festival, NFA will face Linton at the host school's gym tonight 7 p.m. Newburgh has now won 20 straight games, 4-0 so far this season. Linton was the only team to defeat Newburgh last year. The Schenectady-based club was ranked Number One last season. The Goldbacks did not place in last year's ratings until the final week of the season.

In three previous games, NFA mentor Mickey Burkoski was able to clear his bench without having to worry about the opposition coming back. However, last night was a different story as the losers rallied from a 66-41 deficit to move to 67-53 as they outscored the winners, 12-1.

However, George Bucci scored nine markers in that period to keep the Goldbacks in the lead.

Newburgh again showed the great balance that has made them an outstanding ball club. Wade Pittman tallied 22 points. Larry Frazier hit 21; Jim Rogers scored 18; Bucci hit 15. Ralph Petrillo, the fifth starter, usually contributes about 12 to 13 points a game. However, Ralph got in foul trouble early and added just four markers. Bucci and Rogers helped Newburgh in the rebounding department. Bucci grabbed 25 caroms. Rogers had 24. The Newburgh image was tarnished ever so slightly in this tilt as they hit a disappointing 35-for-69 from the field. The Goldbacks entered last night's game with a 59-4 percentage form the field.

Dave Modest hit 31 points for Linton, but even that couldn't offset the performance of CCHS' upset-minded cagers. Center Gary Holle was unstoppable as he paced the winners with 35 markers and gathered in more than 20 rebounds.

The Spotlight Is on Golf

NEW YORK (AP) — Notes from the pro golf tournament trail:

Arnold Palmer is distrubed by slow play on the pro tour. "It's getting absolutely ridiculous," the game's leading gate attraction said. "The last few times I've played, I was waiting on every shot."

Rules of the Tournament Players Division of the PGA, which govern tour events, provide that players losing position on the course—thus holding up players behind them—can be penalized two strokes.

The rule is enforced, primarily with warnings, by members of the TPD field staff. The penalty, however, rarely is invoked.

Gene Sarazen, who will be 69 years old, has filed an entry for the 1971 PGA championship in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., Feb. 25-28. It will be the 50th anniversary of Sarazen's first appearance in a PGA championship. He reached the quarter-finals in 1921.

Sarazen won the PGA three times and is one of only four men ever to win all four of golf's major titles—the U.S. and British Opens, the Masters and the PGA.

Doug Sanders may have been happy when he scored his first victory in almost four years in the recent Bahama Islands Open, the final event on the 1970 pro schedule. But he wasn't nearly as happy as Jim Jamieson and Herb Hooper.

How much difference does one stroke around mean to the tourists?

"I just did some figuring," John Schlee, winner of $28,000 this season, said during the final tournament of the year. "If I'd been one stroke better a round, I'd have won $148,000."

Bowling Association Sets Tourney Dates And Hopes for $1,000

KINGSTON Dates for the 33rd annual Kingston Bowling Association Tournament have been announced by Carlo Perry, the tournament manager.

The team event will take place February 6-7 at Ferraro's Bowl-rama with the singles and doubles following the next weekend (Feb. 13-14) at the Sangi Bowlero.

Because of the New York State Championships here last spring there was no KBA tournament for the 1969-70 season. Under state rules, local city associations are required to forego local championships when hosting a state event.

Perry announced that the entry fee for this year's tournament has been increased by a dollar from $5.00 to $6.00 per player. Perry cited inflation and increased costs as the reason for the increase, the first in many years in the tournament.

The tournament director noted that the cost of bowling has gone up 20 cents per event as has the operating costs.

"However, the prize list will also benefit," said Perry. "If the same number of entries can be realized this year, as the 166 teams entered in 1969, we will be able to offer a $1,000 prize for first place in the handicap division of the team event."

Perry noted that the same 166 team-entry would increase the prize fund by $581.00.

The tournament director emphasized, however, that the $1,000 first prize "is not guaranteed this time. However, it is there, if the bowlers respond in sufficient numbers."

An estimated $4,200 prize list will be divided up on the basis of entries in 1969.

The $1,000 first prize awarded by the Kingston Bowling Association is somewhat unique, according to the American Bowling Congress headquarters. Only a few city associations — all in large metropolitan areas — match that figure.

"We naturally would like to hold the line at $1,000," said Perry. "Whether we do or not is up to the bowlers themselves."

Perry said the deadline for filing entries is January 15, just a little more than three weeks away. Entry blanks may be obtained at each KBA establishment or from any KBA director.

6.7 per cent jump in the amount of doctors' fees covered by medicare and to an estimated 2 per cent rise in the use of physicians' services.

HEW said an estimated 15 per cent increase in the cost and utilization of such institutional services as hospital outpatient clinics will account for the remainder of the premium rise.

Supplemental medicare meets parts of the elderly's nonhospital medical expenses. The government, which matches individual contributions, will pay out an additional $70 million from general revenues next year because of the premium increase.

WITTENBERG

The roof and ceiling of a small cottage off Yankeetown Pond Road in Wittenberg was damaged by fire at about 10 a.m. Tuesday, according to William Harder, Assistant Chief for the Woodstock Fire Department.

Firefighting apparatus was unable to reach the cottage because of an unplowed driveway, said Harder. Hoses and equipment had to be dragged to the scene of the blaze.

The cottage, owned by Rusty Harp, was rented by Dean Schambach, who was inside when the fire broke out.

The blaze erupted at 9:51 a.m. and fire officials state that it may have started in the chimney of the cottage. In addition to severe fire damage to the roof and ceiling, some water damage throughout the structure was reported.

Woodstock Hose Company No. 1 and 2 responded to the alarm. There was no injury reported.

Dear Abby

Boy Afraid to Grow Up

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am only 13, and for a while I was looking forward to getting married some day, but since I've been reading your column, all those letters you get from married people who hate each other has made me change my mind.

Also, I really don't think it will be so much fun to be grown up because adults have so many problems, like income tax, employment and politics. I don't like school too much, but I think I would rather spend my life in school than be an adult in a world like this one. People all say they want peace and they kill each other.

What do you think I should do, Dear Abby?

AFRAID TO GROW UP

DEAR ABBY: Grow up any way. We need adults who are dissatisfied with a world filled with people who say they want peace and proceed to kill each other. Don't cop out of marriage, either. My column is a "trouble dump." There are plenty of happily married people, but they don't write to Dear Abby to tell me how happy they are.

DEAR ABBY: I think I have tried just about all the advice that has ever been recommended for a successful marriage and nothing has helped. I am about ready to give up.

The only time her kitchen is not like a pigpen is when I help her clean it up. If I offer to take her out to dinner, she complains that it will cost too much. I buy her perfume. She doesn't use it. I buy her some sheer nightwear, she refuses to wear it. (She says it is not appropriate for a woman to be so vain.) I am not demanding, but my affection she gives me is more from a sense of obligation than anything else.

She has more hang-ups than an art gallery. I have been 100 per cent faithful, but now I'm beginning to understand why husbands start looking around. Any advice for me? If so, please put it in the paper. Everything else has failed. Thanks and God bless you.

TRIED EVERYTHING

DEAR TRIED: A man can help his wife clean up her kitchen, buy her perfume and sheer nightwear, and offer to take her out for dinner, but he hasn't tried everything until he has laid it on the line in plain (and loving) language! Don't tell me—tell her!

You may need counseling, both of you. If she won't go, go alone. If that fails, then I would say that you have indeed tried everything. And where you go from there must be your own decision.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 36-year-old son who for the last five years has been living common-law with a woman who must be around 50. This woman has had nine children (none by my son), the oldest is in her thirties and the youngest is 16. Well, my son and this woman are finally going to get married, for which I am happy, but she is sending out wedding invitations! Now, that's all right, too, but a lot of people (especially my friends) thought they were married already.

She is having a big church wedding. Shouldn't this wedding be a quiet wedding with perhaps a nice reception later?

Is there anything that I, as the future mother in law, should do?

STEADY READER

DEAR STEADY: The "bride" is engineering everything, so all the arrangements are up to her. Under the circumstances, a "quieter" wedding might have been more appropriate, but since you weren't consulted, you aren't responsible. Just go and don't "do" anything.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

For a personal reply enclose booklet, "How to Write Letters stamped, addressed envelope, for All Occasions." Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's Sat. at 9:10 a.m.—WKY-1490.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

During the daytime some very unusual circumstances arise and you find out just how an insecure person regards you. Efforts on your part to improve relations seem futile. The evening brings tensions and strains as most everyone seems to be in an argumentative mood. Keep your proper perspective and avoid doing anything rash and unwise.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can easily have a good time with persons you like, kin, relatives, but be sure to keep out of arguments, particularly during the evening. Come to fine new agreements. Show that you have poise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Doing your work in such an efficient manner that you make an excellent impression on bigwigs brings their respect at this time. Do not irk an associate. Take it easy tonight. Be wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) The day can run along very smoothly but avoid a co-worker who can be troublesome. Put that creative talent to work in the morning. Doing something to improve your health tonight is good.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Working out a long-standing problem wisely is possible during the day. The evening is for fun. Your hunches are accurate during the day, but not tonight. Use good judgment.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Discuss with associates how to make better arrangements for the future so that there can be greater success. Avoid an argument with family tie tonight. A daytime activity is not good to pursue at night. Do some good reading tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Performing those necessary duties in the morning will prevent financial anxieties later on. Take it easy tonight. Show that you support co-workers and thereby get a great deal done together. Eliminate a bad habit you may have.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) This can be a particularly fine day if you associate with the right individuals instead of letting the wrong ones lead you around. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets. Do some reading tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Look into family affairs that is hard to understand and get at the source of the trouble at home. Say nothing about them and then quietly do what should be done. Avoid tensions. Show wisdom.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Look into matters that concern your friends that can deepen friendships. Do not talk overly critical of others. Don't allow yourself to run roughshod over others. Show that you are a winner.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are able to please a higher-up by the manner in which you take care of monetary matters. Steer clear of pals who are too demanding. Avoiding the social is good tonight. Obtaining data you need is possible. Keep it confidential.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Many fine ideas are yours and you can gain the cooperation of new contacts. Safeguard your good reputation. There is a secret you must keep in the evening, without fail.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) There is a chance to gain the backing of experts and get conditions improved during day, but don't take any risks tonight. Make new plans for the New Year ahead. Going off on any tangents now is not good.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who will want to pursue an unusual profession in order to be really happy and successful. With the help of good and influential people, you should teach early to save money during the profitable years to prevent lack in the lean years, which is possible during middle age. Much originality in this chart, whether male or female. Ethical training early, also.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for January is now ready. For a copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast, The Daily Freeman, Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

During the Civil War, the nickname strawfoot was given to farm boys recruited in the Union Army who had trouble marching. This problem was solved by drill sergeants making recruits tie hay to the left foot and straw to the right foot. The World Almanac recalls. Marching commands were then given as "Hayfoot! Strawfoot!"

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SUBSTITUTE: (Q) I had to give up football so I can do my sister's homework. She is in the fifth grade and never does an assignment. I do them all. I write all her stories and do all her math.

She spends all her time fooling around with her friends. My mother makes me do her work. Is this fair? No Football in Minneapolis.

(A) It is unfair to you. But it is, if possible, even more unfair to your sister.

She does not benefit in any way, except for passing grades, from the schoolwork you do for her. She is being cheated of the opportunity to learn, just as you are being cheated of the opportunity to play football. I'm surprised your mother can't see this.

KISSLESS: (Q) I have been dating a girl for six months. After the first three months, I kissed her. On our next date she told me not to do it again. She said she didn't like kissing and wasn't ready for it.

I haven't tried any more since then. I sure would like to kiss her, though. Should I try, or wait for her to make the first move? She and I are the same age, 15.—Long Dry Spell in California

(A) You have earned another kiss, so try collecting it. If the girl objects again, ask yourself if so cool a friend is worth your warm devotion.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

CBS Year-End Meaty Stuff

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS negotiated a peace in the Middle East. But there was general agreement that "while the fuse is still there and lit, it is a longer one than there was a year ago."

On Vietnam, there seemed agreement that in spite of troop withdrawal, the United States would have forces there for a long time to come.

Willy Brandt's negotiations with the Soviet met with mixed opinions. Richard C. Hottelet commented on greater acceptance of Red China now and said that it "may be in the United Nations by next fall."

Eric Sevareid, assigning himself the role of philosopher in residence, spoke of "a more acute awareness that we are all passengers on a space ship running low on water and oxygen."

Morley Safer was alone in his belief there is a good chance of a negotiated peace in the Middle East. But there was general agreement that "while the fuse is still there and lit, it is a longer one than there was a year ago."

NBC's "First Tuesday," in a switch on exposes of the drug scene, plans a segment on Jan. 5 about youthful members who have moved on from the acid rock subculture to practicing a sort of primitive Christianity.

Concentrating on one group, using a literal translation of the Bible and calling itself "the Children of God," the program will show communal life, the rejection of drugs, alcohol, tobacco and sex outside of marriage as it preaches "the ultimate trip—acceptance of Jesus."

The two-hour program will have Garrick Utley as tempo-

S. Viet Now 10th Largest Naval Power

SAIGON (UPI) —The U.S. Navy today hailed down the Stars and Stripes on the last 123 craft of its "brown water" riverine force and raised the red and gold banner of South Vietnam, creating the world's 10th biggest naval power.

At a turnover ceremony in front of South Vietnamese naval headquarters on the Saigon River, a newly painted river patrol boat was handed over, symbolizing the transfer of title today of the last of the 650 boats which comprised the U.S. Riverine Navy in Vietnam two years ago.

Vice Adm. Jerome H. King Jr., commander of U.S. naval forces Vietnam (NAVFORV), who signed the transfer of title for the United States, said of the brown water fleet:

"They kept the enemy off balance and on the defensive with their 'board and search' tactics, inshore and coastal surveillance, river patrols, troop insertions and attacks on enemy base camps and supply points. They encountered difficult operating areas with heavy foliage, narrow and often uncharted waterways, but they covered them well.

"They demonstrated that coordinated river and coastal operations are not only feasible, but are essential in this war. And they proved to the enemy that the has no sanctuary when faced with the combined efforts of water craft, air forces and ground forces ...

"The Vietnamese people are now able to travel most of the waterways of the republic with far greater freedom and safety than before. Areas that once were enemy-controlled are now open to economic development. The enemy is no longer able to use freely these waterways. His supply traffic has diminished and the frequency and duration of his attacks are less than they were just a few months ago."

The South Vietnamese navy has expanded from 2,000 men in six river assault groups and 30 ships in 1954 to nearly 1,500 combat and logistics vessels, manned by nearly 40,000 men this year. The result is that South Vietnam is the world's 10th largest naval force.

Rear Adm. Tran Van Chon, South Vietnam's chief of naval operations, accepted title to the boats under the U.S. Navy's accelerated turnover of assets to the Vietnamese navy (AC-TOV) program.

The riverine force operated in the Mekong Delta, the Saigon area and in the river network of the five northernmost provinces. At times its work was more hazardous than that of ground troops.

Bomb Cambodians Near Highway

PHNOM PENH (UPI) —The Sre Khlong. There were no reports of casualties or damage.

An earlier mortar and ground attack on Sre Khlong and the nearby position of Talat on Highway 4 left nine Cambodians dead and 28 wounded, field reports showed. Three of those killed, including a child, were the soldiers' dependents.

Col. Pell Nal, a staff member of the Cambodian 2nd military region headquarters on Highway 4, said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong appeared to be reinforcing their units along the highway, perhaps in anticipation of a new Cambodian and South Vietnamese push to reopen the vital roadway.

The return of 2,500 men of South Vietnam's elite paratrooper division left about 10,000 South Vietnamese troops in Cambodia, some of them along Highway 7 to the east of Kompong Cham.

Government sources said the South Vietnamese paratroops moved into the area of Kompong Cham, 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, Dec. 14 following an appeal for help from the Cambodian government in breaking a Communist stronghold on Kompong Cham. The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese had cut off all ground and most air communication with the city of 30,000 persons.

The paratroops reported kill-

Spain Cabinet Divided

BURGOS, Spain (UPI) —A top government advisory body has urged that Generalissimo Francisco Franco commute the death sentences of six Basques, but the nation's cabinet today appeared divided on the issue.

Franco Tuesday night ordered part of the army be put on alert in the event strikes and demonstrations sweep the nation. Widespread work stoppages protesting the sentences were reported in the Basque province of Guipuzcoa, but there were no serious clashes with police.

Appeals for clemency continued to pour in from all over the world, and anti-Franco demonstrations were reported in a number of European cities. In Washington Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., expressed "deep personal dismay" over the sentences and Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said they show "the Franco regime is an authoritarian dictatorship which will brook no opposition."

Members of Parliament, voted without dissent Tuesday to ask Franco to commute the six death sentences. The six are among 15 Basque separatists convicted by a military tribunal in Burgos of murder and other terrorist acts. The others have received lengthy prison sentences.

Source said Franco wanted to decide the issue before delivering his annual New Year speech to the nation on television and radio tonight.

A three-hour extraordinary meeting of the cabinet—a more influential body than the Council of the Realm—ended inconclusively Tuesday with the announcement a decision would be made at another session.

Divorce, Italian Style-- And History Is Recorded

MODENA, ITALY (UPI) —The first couple in modern Italian history to be granted a divorce legally became single today when their decree was registered at the city hall of the town where they were married, Judge Aurelio Galasson president of the Modena court granted the divorce Tuesday to Alfredo Cappi, 28, and Giorgia Luisa Benassi, 25, just 11 days after Italy's new divorce law took effect.

The decree was granted on what lawyers predicted would be the most common grounds for divorce. The Capps were married in 1963 in Levisano di Castelvetro, a few miles from Modena, and separated one year later. They obtained a legal separation in 1968. Without the court separation order the new law requires a six-year separation before divorce, or a seven-year separation if one partner protests the divorce.

Other grounds for divorce in Roman Catholic Italy include prolonged imprisonment, sex crimes against partners or children, and failure to consummate marriages.

Desecration Under Probe

HOLCOMB, N. Y. (AP) —Authorities are searching for the person or persons who stole an American flag from a church in this Finger Lakes community, tore it and then tied it to the flagpole outside the post office.

The desecration was discovered Tuesday morning, a day after flags flew at half staff here for Army Lt. James Saxby, a local son killed in the Vietnam war. He was buried Monday.

Charles Manson Lawyer-- This Case Is a Lynching

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Charles Manson's attorney has told the jury in the Sharon Tate murder trial "This case is a lynching. They are trying to lynch Mr. Manson."

Thus, Irving Kanarek began his final summation Tuesday, saying that the hippie-style clan leader had been a victim of prejudicial pre-trial publicity created while he "has been sitting in a dungeon."

Kanarek was the third defense attorney to speak during the day's court session.

Earlier, chief defense counsel Paul Fitzgerald finished a day and half of argument attacking state's evidence against his client Patricia Krenwinkel and her codefendants.

"A fingerprint is just circumstantial evidence," said Fitzgerald. He said the print, identified as Miss Krenwinkel's, could have been made prior to the night of the killings.

Young hippie types frequently attended parties at the actress' home, said Fitzgerald, declaring "It is entirely reasonable that Patricia Krenwinkel was at that house as an invited guest or a friend."

The attorney noted that 25 unidentified fingerprints were found throughout the Tate house and said any of them might belong to the real killers.

Fitzgerald attacked at length the testimony of Dianne Lake, who testified for the prosecution that Miss Krenwinkel told her she had dragged Abigail Folger, one of the victims, from a bedroom to the living room of the Tate house.

Fitzgerald said the statement was meaningless.

"Does it say she killed Abigail Folger? Does it say she had evil designs? That statement standing alone demonstrates absolutely nothing."

He noted that Miss Lake admitted lying to a grand jury about the case, had lied to officers investigating it, and had been confined to a mental hospital for about eight months this year, diagnosed as schizophrenic and psychotic.

Manson and three young women are charged with murder-conspiracy in the August 1969 slayings of Miss Tate and six others.

The second attorney to speak, Daye Shinn, representing Susan Atkins, 22, spoke for an hour. His main point was that the key witnesses against Miss Atkins were two women ex-felons who told of purported jail cell confessions by her.

"All you had to say was that you wanted to testify in the Tate case and they let you out of jail," he said.

Fitzgerald, in the second day of his presentation, zeroed in on two key points in the case against the 22-year-old Miss Krenwinkel—a fingerprint found at the Tate house and testimony for the state by a 17-year-old girl ex-member of Manson's "family."
